PROGRAM: GENERAL PURPOSE FORCES

I. Narrative Description (O&M: $ in Thousands)

The Program 2 General Purpose Forces will support a force consisting of 18 active divisions, 6 separate brigades, 3 armored cavalry regiments, and one Ranger Regiment. Included in the Program 2 request are resources to support the continued phased activation of the 10th Mountain Division and 6th Infantry Division (Light). The 6th Division will focus on defense of critical sites in Alaska and the initial defense of the Aleutians, and was formed using the 172d Separate Infantry Brigade as a nucleus. These actions represent a continuation of the initiative begun in FY 1985 with the conversion of the 7th Infantry Division to the light design and initial unit activations in the 10th Mountain Division. Both the 10th Mountain Division and the 6th Infantry Division will be rounded out with Reserve Component brigades. The Army's light infantry initiative is aimed at modernizing our lighter forces, to counter the changing nature of the threat, within continued constraints on available resources (manpower, total obligational authority and strategic lift). Upon completion of the light infantry division activations and conversions, the Army will have enhanced its defensive posture in Alaska and the Aleutians and increased its overall deterrent posture as well as having significantly enhanced its capability to respond to the more likely contingencies at the lower end of the conflict spectrum. The heavy (armor and mechanized infantry) divisions continue conversion in FY 1989 to refined Army of Excellence unit designs; coincidentally, certain resources are shifted from Division to Corps to enhance flexibility of the Corps to influence tactical operations worldwide. Funding levels dictate that two active infantry battalions of the 6th Infantry Division not be activated as scheduled and a full Brigade from the 9th Motorized Division be cut from the active force structure. Additional reductions are made to aviation, headquarters and other active organizations.

The Program 2 (Mission) request includes resources to sustain the active combat forces, and related combat support and combat service support. The program provides for training support and initiatives to improve the material support in the field with the objective of enhancing the capability of the Army to deploy and conduct sustained combat operations. Resources also provide for combat development activities, Army costs associated with Joint Chiefs of Staff exercises and operations of the Unified Commands for which the Army is the administrative agent. The FY 1989 Program 2 (Mission) Budget supports an all-inclusive training strategy to expose all soldiers from the individual infantryman to the corps commander to a full-range of demanding training experiences with dedicated opposing forces and standardized feedbacks. These facilities include the National Training Center (NTC) at Fort Irwin, CA, the Combat Maneuver Training Center (CMTC) at Hohenfels, FRG, the Joint Readiness Training Center at Little Rock AFB, AR, and the Battle Command Training Program (BCTP) headquartered at Fort Leavenworth, KS.

I. Narrative Description (O&M: $ in Thousands) (continued)

The Program 2 (Base Operations) request resources to support operation (less Real Property Maintenance Activities) at most installations in CONUS and all installations in Europe, Japan, Korea, and Hawaii funded by the Operation and Maintenance, Army Appropriation. Support provided includes: supply operations; maintenance of materiel; transportation services; laundry and dry cleaning operations; the Army Food Program; bachelor housing operations and furnishings; personnel, administration, and other resources essential to the Army's overall readiness posture. Funds in this submission meet the minimum essential requirements necessary to operate installations and directly support the Army's primary readiness objectives of manning, training, modernizing, and sustaining the force.

The Real Property Maintenance Activities (RPMA) provides support for General Purpose Forces and their supporting structure at 337 installations/locations in Europe, CONUS, and the Pacific. This includes increased combat service support of rapid deployment forces, support of force modernization, force structure changes and correction of security deficiencies.

PROGRAM: GENERAL PURPOSE FORCES
ACTIVITY GROUP: EUROPE FORCES

I. Narrative Description

This activity group provides for operation and maintenance of division forces, special mission forces and theater support forces located in Europe for the purpose of reinforcing the United States commitment to NATO.

II. Description of Operations Financed

Resources support the operation of Headquarters, United States Army, Europe (USAREUR); the 7th Army Training Command; 2 Armored Divisions; 2 Mechanized Infantry Divisions; 2 Armored Cavalry Regiments; Forward Deployed Brigades of 1st Infantry Division and the 2d Armored Division; and the nondivisional combat units, combat support and combat service support units located throughout Europe. The request for training resources will permit units to attain and maintain combat readiness at levels consistent with mission priorities. Resources provide for the operator training and the recurring costs for new systems fielded and the maintenance associated with the redistribution of replaced systems. Major activities funded in this aggregation include the operation of Army aircraft; organizational maintenance to include maintenance of the Prepositioned Material Configured to Unit Sets (POMCUS) program; conduct of the Army Training and Evaluation Program; and conduct of readiness alerts and tests.

Program Increases

(1) Unit Training and Operations (Base: $856,676)	$ 53,685
--	-----------

Base resources support Garrison Operations, Unit Training, Flying Hours, Non-OC Exercises, the conduct of the Army Training and Evaluation Program (ARTEP), and the costs of sustaining new equipment fielded in FY 1989 and prior. The FY 1988 budget increases the OPTEMPO of major combat vehicles from the FY 1988 level of 725 which was necessary to absorb Congressional reductions to 850 miles ($40,000). The Flying Hour Program is also increased from 14.5 hours in FY 1986 to 15.8 hours ($14,285). Intelligence related training is improved thru maintenance of critical language skills ($130) and Projects TROJAN/REDTRAIN ($-466). Resources also support changes in cost factors and revised distribution of recently fielded, modernized equipment ($12,815). Intelligence operations are improved through increased support at Echelons Above Corps and increased intelligence related aviation ($445). These improvements in Combat Readiness are self-financed thru reductions for support costs of displaced equipment ($-11,237), one-time savings resulting from reductions to the aviation structure ($-552), a workyear reduction to field operating agencies ($-469), a decrease in operating costs due to the anticipated deactivation of two Pershing II batteries ($-923), and reduced overseas workyears ($-343).

 Supports the establishment of a Combat Maneuver Training Center at Hohenfels, FRG. This initiative will provide a collective training facility for the forward deployed maneuver battalions in USAREUR. In FY 1989, development of the instrumentation system and associated software will begin. That process will continue in FY 1989 leading toward full operational capability in FY 1991. The operational complex will be part of the triad of Tactical Training Centers which now consist of the National Training Center at Fort Irwin, CA, and the Joint Readiness Training Center at Little Rock AFB, AR.

B. Reconciliation of Increases and Decreases (Continued):

Program Decreases

- (1) Maintenance/Logistical Support (Base: $49,835)$ -11,102
Base program provides resources for initiatives which support sustainability of the combat force during continuous land combat operations. An increase of $383 supports increased costs of operating the NORTHAG support structure at Reichel. Funding is independent of any purchase or lease arrangements. Approximately 850 overseas workyears supporting various maintenance and logistics functions are reduced ($-17,073). Increases also provide for the continued procurement of the Extended Cold Weather System and other soldier protection items such as the PASGT helmet and combat vehicle crewman uniform ($3,952). Combat sustainability is improved through increased support to the combat PLL/ASL program which provides units with essential repair parts, at organizational and direct support level, to support maintenance operations under combat conditions. Current repair parts stockage is based on peacetime demand data and not adequate to meet the increased consumption expected in combat. The funds help defray the cost of procuring the difference between current stocks and combat PLL/ASL requirements. Without these resources, units will not be able to maintain an acceptable level of operational availability of combat essential equipment under combat conditions ($ 2,191). Host Nation Support is reduced for one-time costs associated with activation of German Reserve Units ($-555).

- (2) FY 1989 Force Modernization (Base $ 36,209)$ -6,592
Provides mission operating funds to support the fielding of selected new or modernized equipment entering the active force inventory in F. 1989. (For details on specific systems, see "Intensively Managed Systems" section).

- (3) Rapid Reinforcement of NATO/POMCUS (Base $123,846).....$ -6,734
 Base program provides resources for annual costs associated with Prepositioned Material Configured to Unit Sets (POMCUS). Annual costs include contractual operating costs; salaries; and costs for maintenance, storage, supply, and replenishment of stock funded POMCUS items. The FY 1989 change is a result of a decrease of approximately 900 overseas civilian workyears ($-23,985) offset by the increase necessary to support new warehouses coming on line in FY 1989 as well as realignment of resources from the OCONUS Budget Activity ($17,251).

ACTIVITY GROUP: EUROPE REAL PROPERTY MAINTENANCE ACTIVITIES

I. Narrative Description: This budget activity provides Real Property Maintenance Activities (RPMA) for general purpose forces and their supporting structure at 39 military communities in Europe which include 182 principal Army installations (excluding Berlin, which is funded by the Federal Republic of Germany). The FY 1989 request totals $1,175.3 million. Major program increases/decreases contained in this request are as follows:

Program	FY 1989
Real Property Maintenance	48,400
Utilities Savings	-1,001
Force Modernization	-672

DEPARTMENT OF THE ARMY
JUSTIFICATION OF AMENDED ESTIMATES FOR FY 1988-89
OPERATION AND MAINTENANCE, ARMY

PROGRAM: GENERAL PURPOSE FORCES
ACTIVITY GROUP: EUROPE REAL PROPERTY MAINTENANCE ACTIVITIES

II. Description of Operations Financed: Funds provide Real Property Maintenance Activity support in the following areas:

A. Operation of Utilities - Finances procurement, production and distribution of utilities for Europe communities. Included are operating costs for Army owned heating and electrical generating plants, purchased utilities (i.e., heat, electricity, water and sewerage), operation of water plants and distribution systems, and sewage and waste systems.

B. Maintenance and Repair of Real Property - Finances maintenance and repair of buildings, structures, roads, railroads, grounds and utility systems at Europe communities. The FY 89 request will not cover the annual maintenance and repair requirements and the Backlog of Maintenance and Repair (BMAR) will increase approximately $190.7 million. This increase in backlog will result in degradation to utilities systems, unaccompanied personnel housing, and operational facilities. Migration in the amount of $10 million has been considered in estimating the BMAR.

C. Minor Construction - Finances the erection, installation or assembly of a new real property facility, or the addition or conversion of an existing real property facility when project costs do not exceed $200 thousand.

D. Engineer Support - Finances other facilities engineering services for Europe communities, such as fire protection, custodial services, pest control, refuse collection and disposal, snow removal and ice alleviation. Includes resources for Real Estate Administration and Construction Support in Europe.

Program Increases

a. Real Property Maintenance (RPM) (Base: $591,047).....$ 48,400

Real Property Maintenance funding has been reduced to levels far below the Annual Recurring Requirement (ARR) in recent years. This programmatic increase will partially close the gap but does not fully fund the ARR due to overall budget constraints. Consequently, there will be some deterioration of existing Army facilities with an associated degradation of living and working conditions at U.S. military installations. For example, many high priority projects to repair utilities systems, troop barracks, maintenance facilities, operational facilities, and more will, or necessity, be deferred. The Backlog of Maintenance and Repair (BMAR) will rise by $191 million in FY 1989.

b. Utilities Savings (Base: $250,659).....$

The Army has invested large sums in energy conservation devices and methods over the past several years. The Army energy plan projects a reduction in utilities consumption of 40% by FY 2000 from the level experienced in FY 1975. The combination of investments in technology and emphasis on conservation has reduced consumption levels. This downward adjustment reflects these savings.

OPERATION AND MAINTENANCE, ARMY

PROGRAM: GENERAL PURPOSE FORCES
ACTIVITY GROUP: PACIFIC FORCES

I. Narrative Description

This activity group provides for the operation and maintenance of two combat divisions in the Pacific (2d Infantry Division, Korea and the 25th Infantry Division, Hawaii), non-divisional combat units and other non-divisional forces stationed in the Pacific Theater. Additionally, provides funding associated with Headquarters, Eighth United States Army; Headquarters, United States Army, Japan; and Headquarters, United States Army Western Command.

II. Description of Operations Financed

Provides resources to support two Infantry Divisions and non-divisional units, combat support, and combat service support units located in the Pacific Theater. The request for training resources will permit units to attain and maintain combat readiness at levels consistent with mission priorities. These resources also provide for the recurring costs for new systems fielded, the operator training costs associated with these systems, and for maintenance associated with the redistribution of replaced systems. Funding also defrays operating costs which are properly chargeable to unit operations in the performance of assigned missions. Operating costs include organizational maintenance; sustainment training conducted by operating force units; conduct of the Army Training and Evaluation Program; conduct of directed readiness tests; and those one-time and recurring costs of supplies and equipment incurred solely as a result of reorganizations, conversions, activations, and inactivations of units.

III. Financial Summary (O&M: $ in Thousands)

B. Reconciliation of Increases and Decreases (Continued):

Program Increases

(1) Unit Training and Operations (Base $172,315)$ 17,363

Base resources support garrison operations, unit training, flying hours, non-JCS exercises, the conduct of the Army Training and Evaluation Program (ARTEP), and the costs of sustaining new equipment fielded in FY 1989 and prior. The FY 1989 budget increases the OPTEMPO of major combat vehicles from the FY 1988 level of 725, which was necessary to absorb Congressional reductions, to 850 miles ($9,080). The flying hour program is also increased from 14.5 hours in FY 1988 to 15.8 hours ($7,479). Intelligence related training is improved thru maintenance of critical language skills, the modernization of intelligence support systems, and subtraction of one-time costs ($761). Continues with the activations of a Medical Clearing Company and a Mechanized Smoke Company ($1,461). Resources also support changes in cost factors and revised distribution of recently fielded, modernized equipment ($625). These improvements in combat readiness are self-financed thru reductions for support costs of displaced equipment ($-240), one-time savings resulting from previous force structure decisions ($-1,030), and the current reductions to the aviation structure ($-773).

(2) Maintenance and Logistical Support (Base $57,446)$ 3,770

Base program supports the sustainability of the combat force during peacetime and continuous land combat operations. Increases provide for continued procurement of the Extended Cold Weather Clothing System and other protective devices and clothing designed to improve the safety of the individual soldier ($582). Combat sustainability is improved through increased support to the combat PLL/ASL program which provides units with essential repair parts to support operations in combat ($1,138). Continues the initiative to improve the security and handling of chemical munitions stored at Johnston Island. FY 1989 increase is required to pay the increased cost of contractor support for multi-shift operations in support of 105 millimeter demilitarization ($2,550). These minimum essential increases are offset by a reduction for the one-time transfer from MCA for upgrade of the joint command facility at Camp Tango, Korea ($-500).

(3) Light Infantry Division Initiatives (Base $27,389).....$ 2,627

Base resources support garrison operations, unit training, flying hours, non-JCS exercises, the conduct of the Army Training and Evaluation Program (ARTEP), the costs of sustaining new equipment fielded in FY 1989 and prior, and various force structure actions associated with the activations and conversions of the Army's light infantry divisions. Increases support battalion level training and unit exchanges with Pacific base countries ($2,702). The FY 1989 budget is decreased for one-time costs associated with the FY 1988 activation of a Military Police Company in the 25th Division (Light) ($-75).

(4) FY 1989 Force Modernization Program (Base $1,380).....$ 114

I. Narrative Description: This budget activity provides Real Property Maintenance Activities (RPMA) support for General Purpose Forces and their supporting structure at 51 Army installations and activities in Pacific. The FY 1989 request totals $265 million. Major program increases/decreases contained in this request are as follows:

Program	FY 1989

DEPARTMENT OF THE ARMY
JUSTIFICATION OF AMENDED ESTIMATES FOR FY 1988-89

PROGRAM: GENERAL PURPOSE FORCES
ACTIVITY GROUP: PACIFIC REAL PROPERTY MAINTENANCE ACTIVITIES

II. Description of Operations Financed: Funds requested will provide support in four functional areas of Real Property Maintenance Activities. These functional areas are:

A. Operation of Utilities - Finances procurement, production and distribution of utilities for 51 Pacific installations. Included are operating costs for Army owned heating and electrical generating plants, purchased utilities (i.e., heat, electricity, water and sewerage), operation of water plants and distribution systems, and sewage and waste systems.

B. Maintenance and Repair of Real Property - Finances maintenance and repair of buildings, structures, roads, grounds and utility systems at 51 installations. The FY 89 request will not cover the annual maintenance and repair requirements and the Backlog of Maintenance and Repair (BMAR) will increase by $20.9 million. This increase in backlog will result in degradation of utilities systems, unaccompanied personnel housing, and operational facilities. Migration in the amount of $5 million has been considered in the budget request in estimating the backlog of maintenance and repair.

C. Minor Construction - Finances the erection, installation or assembly of a new real property facility, or the addition or conversion of an existing real property facility when project costs do not exceed $200 thousand.

D. Engineer Support - Finances other facilities engineering services for Pacific installations, such as fire protection, custodial services, pest control, refuse collection and disposal, snow removal and ice alleviation, includes Construction Support.

Program Increases

a. Real Property Maintenance (Base: $130,734).....$ 14,589

Real Property Maintenance funding has been reduced to levels far below the Annual Recurring Requirement (ARR) in recent years. This programmatic increase will partially close the gap but does not fully fund the ARR due to overall budget constraints. Consequently, there will be some deterioration of existing Army facilities with an associated degradation of living and working conditions at U.S. military installations. For example, many high priority projects to repair utilities systems, troop barracks, maintenance facilities, operational facilities, and more will, of necessity, be deferred. The Backlog of Maintenance and Repair (BMAR) will still rise by $20.1 million in FY 1989.

Program Decreases

a. Utilities Savings - Energy Conservation (Base: $55,437).....$ -443

The Army has invested large sums in energy conservation devices and methods over the past several years. The Army energy plan projects a reduction in utilities consumption in its facilities of 40 percent by FY 2000 from the level experienced in FY 1975. The combination of investments in technology and emphasis on conservation has reduced consumption levels. This downward adjustment reflects these savings.

b. 25th Infantry Division to Light Design (Base: $200).....$ -200

Represents one-time cost initiatives accomplished in FY 88 associated with the conversion of the 25th Infantry Division to a Light Division Design.

I. Narrative Description

This activity group provides for the operation and maintenance of a special mission Infantry Brigade (Separate) and theater support forces located in Panama. These forces are positioned to defend the Panama Canal and enhance the United States' capability to train for and support low intensity operations/exercises in Latin America and provide environmental training to U.S. forces at the Jungle Operations Training Center.

II. Description of Operations Financed

Provides resources to support a special mission Infantry Brigade (Separate) and theater support forces located in Panama. Resources defray operating costs chargeable to unit operations in the performance of assigned missions to include the ability to conduct operations in a high probability, low intensity scenario along the lower end of the conflict spectrum. Major activities funded in this aggregation include operational and readiness training exercises, and assigned organizational maintenance. Additionally, funds provide for the operator training and recurring costs for new systems fielded.

PROGRAM: GENERAL PURPOSE FORCES
ACTIVITY GROUP: CONUS FORCES - FORSOOM

I. Narrative Description

This activity group provides for operation of twelve combat divisions, three separate brigades, one Armored Cavalry Regiment, numerous nondivisional combat support and combat service support forces and related units engaged in air defense, special operations, support to other services, and special activities assigned to US Army Forces Command (FORSOOM). Includes resources formerly identified in the Budget Activity - Alaska Forces.

II. Description of Operations Financed

The FY 1989 budget increases the OPTEMPO of major combat vehicles from the FY 1988 level of 725 which was necessary to absorb congressional reductions to 850 miles ($45,465). The flying hour program is also increased from 14.5 hours in FY 1988 to 15.8 hours ($12,575). Intelligence related training is improved thru maintenance of critical language skills ($130) and Projects TROJAN/TENCAP ($200). Resources also support changes in cost factors and distribution of recently fielded, modernized equipment ($13,890). These improvements in combat readiness are self-financed thru reductions for support costs of displaced equipment ($-6,239), one-time savings resulting from previous force structure decisions ($-13,953), the current reductions to the aviation structure ($-4,619), a workyear reduction to field operating agencies ($-2,291) and the elimination of one brigade of the 9th Motorized Division ($-7,536). | |

The budget supports international agreements for the prepositioning, maintenance and care of supplies which results in cost avoidance for related sealift and airlift requirements ($4,160). Increases also provide for continued procurement of the Extended Cold Weather Clothing System and other soldier protection items ($845). These minimum essential increases are in part self-financed through reductions for one-time costs of leasing Golden Knights Parachute Team aircraft ($-3,144). | |

- (1) Information Management Automation (Base $ 208,343).....$ 4,461
Base resources support the Information Management initiatives necessary for the Army to command, control, and support its forces. Resources provide for the operation and maintenance of mission data processing facilities, central design activities, project manager offices, and information management activities at various commands. FY 1989 increase provides for:

- o Unit Level Logistics System (ULLS) - ULLS is designed to assist soldiers at the company level by automating the requisition, receipt, storage and issue functions. It standardizes unit procedures, reduces error rates and excess stocks, and improves unit readiness. The FY 1989 increase supports fielding of the ULLS software ($499).
- o Signal source processors - The FY 1989 increase provides software maintenance to support the fielding of signal source processors for a classified project ($1,150).
- o Living Table of Organization and Equipment (TOE) - The program converts existing TOE's to Living TOE's which are used to determine how Army units are to be organized, manned and equipped. It also provides the mechanism for managing the integration of new equipment and personnel/skills into the force. Accurate, timely TOE documents are essential to the personnel, logistics, and financial information systems of the Army. The FY 1989 increase supports pay and benefits for additional personnel, purchase of software and hardware, and maintenance ($2,812).

ACTIVITY GROUP: CONUS REAL PROPERTY MAINTENANCE ACTIVITIES

I. Narrative Description: This budget activity group provides Real Property Maintenance Activities (RPMA) for the General Purpose Forces and their supporting structure at 21 major military installations, including the Panama Defense Complex, currently in the subprogram base and 9 subinstallations and activities transferred from Operation Maintenance Army Reserve (OMAR) in FY 1987. These installations and activities support general purpose forces and their ancillary structure in Forces Command and USAPSO. The FY 1989 request totals $716.9 million. Major program increases/decreases contained in this request are as follows:

Program	FY 1989
Real Property Maintenance	33,652
Force Structure	150
Force Modernization Fielding	-80
Utilities Savings	-1,196

DEPARTMENT OF THE ARMY
JUSTIFICATION OF AMENDED ESTIMATES FOR FY 1988-89

PROGRAM: GENERAL PURPOSE FORCES
ACTIVITY GROUP: CONUS REAL PROPERTY MAINTENANCE ACTIVITIES

II. Description of Operations Financed: Funds provide support in four functional areas of Real Property Maintenance Activities. These functional areas are:

A. Operation of Utilities - Finances procurement, production and distribution of utilities for FORSCOM/USARSO installations. Included are operating costs for Army owned heating and electrical generating plants, purchased utilities (i.e., heat, electricity, water and sewerage), operation of water plants and distribution systems, and sewage and waste systems.

B. Maintenance and Repair of Real Property - Finances maintenance and repair of buildings, structures, roads, grounds, railroads and utility systems at FORSCOM/USARSO installations. The FY 89 request will not cover the annual maintenance and repair requirements, and the Backlog of Maintenance and Repair (BMAR) will increase by $52.2 million. Migration in the amount of $10 million has been considered in estimating the BMAR. This backlog will result in degradation to utilities systems, unaccompanied personnel housing, and operational facilities.

C. Minor Construction - Finances the erection, installation or assembly of a new real property facility, or the addition or conversion of an existing real property facility when project costs do not exceed $200 thousand.

D. Engineer Support - Finances other facilities engineering services such as fire protection, custodial services, pest control, refuse collection and disposal, snow removal and ice alleviation, includes construction support for FORSCOM/USARSO.

III. Financial Summary ($ in Thousands) (Continued):

B. Reconciliation of Increases/Decreases (Continued):

Program Increases

a. Real Property Maintenance (Base: $380,982).....$ 33,652

Real Property Maintenance funding has been reduced to levels far below the Annual Recurring Requirement (ARR) in recent years. This programmatic increase will partially close the gap but does not fully fund the ARR due to overall budget constraints. Consequently, there will be some deterioration of existing Army facilities with an associated degradation of living and working conditions at U.S. military installations. For example, many high priority projects to repair utilities systems, troop barracks, maintenance facilities, operational facilities, and more will, of necessity, be deferred. The Backlog of Maintenance and Repair (BMAR) will still rise by $52.2 million in FY 1989.

b. Force Structure Adjustments (Base: $27,460).....$ 150

This increase for the 10th Mountain Division at Ft Drum, NY, is partially offset by the savings associated with force structure reductions, which include a brigade from the 9th Infantry Division and two battalions from the 6th Infantry Division.

B. Reconciliation of Increases/Decreases (Continued):

Program Decreases

a. Force Modernization Fielding (Base: $488).....$ -80

A reduction in funds to support the fielding of selected new of modernized equipment entering the active inventory in FY 89. The decrease offsets one time RPMA costs in FY 88. (For details on specific systems, see "Intensively Managed System" section).

b. Utilities Savings - Energy Conservation (Base: $149,522).....$ -1,196

The Army has invested large sums in energy conservation devices and methods over the past several years. The Army energy plan projects a reduction in utilities consumption in its facilities of 40 percent by FY 2000 from the level experienced in FY 1975. The combination of investments in technology and emphasis on conservation has reduced consumption levels. This downward adjustment reflects these savings.

These exercises include joint and combined exercises that are sponsored by the Joint Chiefs of Staff, Commanders-in Chief, and the Services. FY 1989 decrease results from reduced scope and level of Army participation in selected JCS exercises.

PROGRAM: GENERAL PURPOSE FORCES

ACTIVITY GROUP: COMBAT DEVELOPMENT ACTIVITIES

I. Narrative Description

This activity group provides for activities supporting experimentation, tests, projects, and evaluations necessary to develop and/or validate new doctrine, materiel and organization for the Army.

II. Description of Operations Financed

Provides the baseline operating costs (civilian salaries, contract support, travel and test instrumentation of activities) for Combat Development Activities and fulfills the Army's requirement to accomplish Force Development Testing and Operational Tests and Evaluations. Additionally, resources provide for the operation and maintenance associated with the use of threat simulators during testing and support of the Tactical Exploitation of National Capabilities (TENCAP) program. They also provide the funding for the operation of Combat Development Headquarters activities including the Operational Test and Evaluation Agency (OTEA), the Concepts Analysis Agency (CAA), TRADOC Systems Analysis Agency (TRASANA) and the Army Development and Employment Agency (ADEA). In FY 1989, ADEA will be reduced with a small cell remaining to ensure the interoperability of the Army's Tactical Command and Control System. Beginning in FY 1988 all ADEA resources are realigned from CONUS to this budget activity.

Program Decreases

(1) Combat Development Activities (Base $260,785)$ -27,983

Base resources support essential combat development, testing and doctrinal changes needed to ensure that organizational design, tactical concepts, and equipment keep pace with changing mission requirements. FY 1989 changes are the result of decreases in testing including the completion of the FY 1988 force on force evaluation of operations in a nuclear environment ($-4,336), a decrease in combat development workyears ($-3,647), and the reduction of the Army Development and Employment Agency (ADEA) ($-20,000).

(2) Force Modernization (Base: $44,989)$ -937

Provides mission operating funds to support the fielding of selected new or modernized equipment entering the active force inventory in FY 1989. For details on specific systems, see "Intensively Managed Systems" section.

Program Increase

(1) Force Modernization Program (Base $58,276)$ 7,737

Provides mission operating funds to support the fielding of selected new or modernized equipment entering the active force inventory. (For detail on specific systems see "Intensively Managed System" section).

(2) Maintenance and Logistics Support (Base $273,461)$ 39,569

Base resources support the performance of direct and general support maintenance on tactical equipment and pays associated civilian personnel costs. The increasing age of the Army's medium tactical wheeled vehicle fleet requires increased and improved maintenance at levels above organizational in order to prolong vehicle life. The FY 1989 budget improves materiel readiness but finances only 75% of the General Support Repair Program in Europe and the Theater Army Repair Program in Forces Command. The increase will support the refurbishing of additional tactical vehicles, reduces the FY 1988 backlog of maintenance of tactical equipment in CONUS and the Pacific and supports increased density of previously fielded, modernized equipment ($47,628). Resources are also provided to support an OPTEMPO of 850 miles for major combat vehicles ($5,345). Increases are offset by decreases in the levels of civilian workyears ($-11,094) and savings from productivity and anticipated contracting ($-2,310).

PROGRAM: INTELLIGENCE

I. Description of Operations Financed:

Program 3-Intelligence consists of Security and Investigative Activities (S&IA), the Consolidated Cryptologic Program (CCP), the General Defense Intelligence Program (GDIP), and the Foreign Counterintelligence Program (FCI). Also included are Base Operations and Real Property Maintenance Activities.

The S&IA supports combat readiness through operational security support to Army installations, activities and research and development efforts, provision of nonstandard administrative and technical support for Army counterintelligence, and conduct of unit refresher training of counterintelligence personnel. In addition, it provides resources for the operation of various activities of the Headquarters, US Army Intelligence and Security Command, Arlington Hall Station, Virginia.

The CCP, GDIP, and FCI are parts of the National Foreign Intelligence Program (NFIP), regulated pursuant to Executive Order 12333. The CCP is programmed under the management of the Director, National Security Agency (NSA); the GDIP is programmed under the management of the Director, Defense Intelligence Agency (DIA); and the FCI is programmed under the management of the Counterintelligence and Investigative Programs Office (CIPO), of the Deputy Under Secretary of Defense (Policy) (DUSD(P)).

The CCP, GDIP, and FCI budgets are fully documented and justified in classified submissions by the Director of Central Intelligence (DCI) which are available to properly cleared individuals upon request.

Base Operations (BASOPS) provides for the operation of Arlington Hall Station, VA to include all activities concerned with administration of the installation along with retail supply operations and maintenance of equipment. Funding is also provided for unaccompanied personnel housing operation, administration, and furnishings. Other personnel support includes operation of and administration of food services, as well as community and morale support activities. In addition, base operations finances the operation of installation motor transportation service, police service, and management of training facilities.

The Real Property Maintenance Activities (RPMA) budget provides support for the US Army Intelligence and Security Command (INSCOM) at Arlington Hall Station, VA. PROGRAM: COMMUNICATIONS, COMMAND AND CONTROL, INFORMATION SERVICES

1. Description of Operations Financed:

The Army communications, command and control, information services program provides for a wide range of information service related needs of the Major Army Commands (MACOMs); provides communications and automatic data processing support for the command and control requirements of the National Command Authority (NCA) and the Unified Commanders; fulfills tasking directed by the Office of the Secretary of Defense, Joint Chiefs of Staff, the Defense Communications Agency and the National Security Agency. Reliable, flexible and responsive information management services are essential elements of US Force Readiness. Major program objectives are to achieve management efficiencies through the process of centralized management of information equipment and manpower; maintain high quality performance of assigned Defense Communication System (DCS) missions; provide high quality voice and data transmission and processing facilities, and information management support activities in support of central software design.

The development of information systems is assigned to the Program Executive Offices in compliance with Packard Commission recommendations. The US Army Information Systems Command (USAISC), Ft Huachuca, Arizona operates and maintains Army information systems. USAISC Commanders are "dual hatted" i.e., they are assigned to both MACOM Commanders as well as the Commander, USAISC, to ensure responsive support to the mission requirements of the Army. At the same time MACOMs participate in information systems economy and discipline programs to insure information management resource consciousness within all elements of the command. The backbone of long haul communications is the Defense Communications System (DCS) administered by the Defense Communications Agency (DCA). The Army operates facilities of the DCS as assigned by DCA. DCS facilities operated by the Army include satellite ground terminals, automatic voice (AUTOVON) and automatic digital (AUTODIN) switching centers, microwave stations and tropospheric and high frequency radio stations. Engineering elements of USAISC perform numerous functions in support of the DCS and participate fully with DCA and other services in the accomplishment of priority projects. The major thrust in data communications is modernization and consolidation. The Army is placing significant emphasis on providing for the ever increasing information management requirements and increasing the efficiency of current computer operations. In addition, the Army is dedicated to supporting a major classified initiative, the Strategic C3 project. The program also supports Base Operations and Real Property Maintenance activities at Fort Huachuca, Arizona; and Fort Ritchie, Maryland. The FY 1988 Budget Request continues the Army commitment to the Reserve Component Automation System (RCAS) and the Supercomputer program.

PROGRAM: COMMUNICATIONS, COMMAND AND CONTROL, INFORMATION SERVICES
ACTIVITY GROUP: STRATEGIC COMMAND AND CONTROL

1. Narrative Description:

The Strategic Command and Control activity group provides resources in support of the Worldwide Military Command and Control System (WMCCS), the Minimum Essential Emergency Communications Network, the Alternate National Military Command Center, and the National Military Command System. The mission of WMCCS is to support the National Command Authorities and the Department of Defense in planning, directing, coordinating and controlling the operations of military forces. The WMCCS consists of command and control subsystems which enable the National Command Authority, the Chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, and commanders at appropriate subordinate levels to monitor, direct and control the worldwide disposition and operations of the US Military Forces. WMCCS-ADP facilities provide the necessary information collection and processing capabilities, procedures, decision aids and displays to support effectively the Command decision process. The goal is to achieve an integrated information management system with geographically dispersed but mutually supportive components.

11. Description of Operations Financed:

- A. WMCCS Automatic Data Processing (ADP). Includes on-going costs related to the operation and maintenance of the eight Army WMCCS sites. These operations financed include costs incurred in day-to-day operations, salaries/benefits of civilian personnel, training, maintenance of ADP equipment, consumable and other supplies, travel, and contractual support for systems analysts and field-engineer maintenance.
- B. Army WMCCS Information System (AWIS). AWIS is a multi-year, multi-appropriation, joint modernization program which provides for the replacement of current WMCCS-ADP hardware and software with state-of-the-art technology in compliance with US House of Representatives reports 96-916 and 97-333. To ensure the smooth transition from WMCCS-ADP to AWIS, the Army in FY 1984 established a Project Management Office (PMO) for development and implementation of AWIS at the eight Army sites. The PMO provides for planning, design, development, implementation, and maintenance in direct support of modernization to the Army WMCCS Information System (AWIS). In compliance with Packard Commission recommendations, the AWIS PMO is now managed by the Program Executive Office.

Additional resources are required by the Military Traffic Management Command (MTMC) and by US Forces Command (FORSCOM) to develop the wartime command and control system application software which feeds through the Worldwide Military Command and Control System (WWMCCS) into the Joint Deployment System (JDS). The Joint Chiefs of Staff have directed that the JDS be used as the single source for deployment data during crisis planning and execution. FY 1988 resources provide for software development and site unique interfaces to the JDS at FORSCOM. FY 1989 resources provide for continued software development, funding for direct-funded FORSCOM civilians and partial year funding for Army Industrially-funded civilian personnel at MTMC who provide functional and technical data base management. FY 1989 resources also provide for hardware upgrades, partial year funding of equipment maintenance, and contractual training.

Operation and Maintenance, Army (OMA) resources provide for contractual support emphasizing planning issues and development methodologies critical to the AWIS. This support includes contractual support for AWIS program planning and analysis, system engineering, and transition engineering, support for definition of command and control information requirements, and support for the ADA software prototype. OMA funds also provide pay and allowances for civilian personnel, travel, and supplies and materials for AWIS Project Management Office; and equipment maintenance for Common User Subsystem equipment procured with Other Procurement, Army (OPA) funds. Decreased OMA funds in FY 1988 provide reduced contractual support for definition of management information systems interface requirements.

ACTIVITY GROUP: DEFENSE COMMUNICATIONS SYSTEM SUPPORT

I. Narrative Description:

The Defense Communications System Support activity group provides for communications which are part of the Defense Communications System (DCS). The DCS includes long haul communications, satellite communications ground environment; and engineering and installation activities supporting the DCS. The DCS is under the purview of the Defense Communications Agency (DCA).

II. Description of Operations Financed:

- A. Long Haul Communications (DCS). Finances facilities and functions assigned to the US Army which constitute a portion of the Department of Defense-wide DCS. The DCS long haul communications include such activities as the Defense Commercial Telecommunications Network (DCTN), the Automatic Digital Network (AUTODIN), the Defense Switched Network/Automatic Voice Network (DSN/AUTOVON), the Defense Data Network (DDN), and the Defense Automatic Secure Voice Communications (AUTOSEVOCOM).
- B. Satellite Communications Ground Environment. Finances the Defense Satellite Communications System (DSCS) ground terminals assigned to the US Army for operation and maintenance, engineering and installation in support of DSCS operations, that portion of the US Army Satellite Communications Agency (USASATCOMA) supporting operation of the DSCS, and the Direct Communications Link (DCL).
- C. Inter-Service/Agency Automated Message Processing Exchange. Financed for a short time a planned joint supported standardized automated telecommunications capability for critical narrative and record data message communications services required by widely dispersed DOD elements; and a highly advanced multilevel security capability for consolidating intelligence and general message systems.

a. TROJAN (FY 1988 Base $9,504)$ 4,496

The Army needs to enhance tactical Signal Intelligence/Electronic Warfare (SIGINT/EW) individual training, language capability, technical proficiency, unit readiness, and personnel retention. The most effective means of accomplishing this is to conduct operations against real world threat in signal environments. It is impractical and politically impossible to deploy all SIGINT/EW units to international border sites and access points to continuously perform these operations. TROJAN provides live foreign target signals from strategic access sites to soldiers in garrison. Current TROJAN communications system is comprised of point-to-point, low speed circuit leases between remote border locations scattered around the world and SIGINT/EW facilities in the United States where targeted information is received in real-time for interpretation and analysis. FY 1988 resources initiate the upgrade of this system to a highly reliable, high speed system of leased transmission and switching networks. The FY 1989 funding increase reflects the expansion of this upgraded system to additional users.

Operation and maintenance resources in FY 1988 and FY 1989 provide equipment maintenance and contractor support for operations and training requirements for the communications equipment being procured in FY 1985-1991 for the USCENTCOM requirement. The equipment types required include circuit switches, message switches, multichannel radios, communications terminals and multi-channel satellite ground terminals. Following equipment installation, long haul leased communications circuits will be required to support major command connectivity. a. Oahu Telephone System (OTS) Installation (FY 1988 Base $3,700)$ -3,700

OTS is a Defense Communications Agency (DCA) managed program that will be jointly funded by the Army, Navy, Marine Corps and Air Force. OTS is scheduled for implementation in FY 1988 to replace the current system which is inadequate for the growing demands of both command and control and administrative users. The OTS will provide total telephone service, including all resources necessary to provide administration, operations and maintenance facilities, and network management for all military and selected civilian government installations on the island of Oahu, Hawaii. The OTS will also have a modular architecture with an expansion capability to meet future needs on Oahu. FY 1988 Operation and Maintenance, Army (OMA) funds are required for engineering and installation of the system and payment for the vendor's investment in replacing switches and selected transmission media. The FY 1989 funding requirements decrease as the FY 1988 one-time costs are completed.

b. Force Modernization (FY 1988 Base $759)$ -285

The Force Modernization Program provides high quality command and control and administrative networks for use in echelons above corps (EAC) using mobile, ruggedized communications systems and equipment. The systems provide radio capabilities to transmit voice and record traffic, switching equipment to route signals to the intended recipients and terminal equipment to convert the electronic signals into usable voice or written information or convert voice or written input into signal traffic. Typically these systems provide communications for the major headquarters and organizations in the EAC and also the linkages from these locations to the combat forces and from the Theater of Operations to CONUS. The decrease to FY 1988 resources provides for a decrease in fielding of TRITAC Block III Equipment, M939 Truck Equipment, and Army Modernization Information Memorandum Standard Form System and an increase in fielding of High Mobility Multi-Purpose Wheeled Vehicle Equipment, Range Modernization (Remotely Engaged Target System), and Single Channel Ground and Airborne Radio System. a. Base Information Support Workyear Reduction (FY 88 Base $216,582)$ -8,620

At the garrison or installation level, the United States Army Information Systems Command (USAISC) provides information management support for the five information management disciplines: telecommunications, automation, records management, visual information, and printing. This support is provided by personnel who are assigned to USAISC. The cost of operating this mission area is split between this budget major force program and reimbursements received from every other major force program. Since the dollar reduction is found in this budget activity, the mission impact is found in those areas direct funded to USAISC: the Director of Information Management staff, telecommunications centers, and the basic post telephone dial central offices. A reduction of this magnitude will result in a reduction to the hours of operation of telecommunications centers (very few will continue 24 hour operations; some will close), telephone operators will also reduce hours of operation, so will installers and trouble shooters. The information management staffs that provide critical assistance to installation users in terms of everything from planning new acquisitions, consolidating maintenance contracts, funding and correcting waste and abuse, providing property accountability, customer problem solving, resource management and all other management functions will be reduced. These staffs are already very lean and important management practices will either not get done or get done in a less timely manner.

The Army has invested in supercomputers in order to provide more responsive analyses, improve weapons designs, and reduce costly testing. Major benefits to the Army are expected in high energy laser development, vulnerability analysis, wargaming, and battlefield assessments. A contract will be awarded in FY 1988 for the establishment of a Joint Army/Academic Supercomputer Center. This center will provide expert support to Army scientists, engineers and analysts in using supercomputers to solve complex mission critical problems. The FY 1988 Operations and Maintenance, Army (OMA) funding supports the activities of the Supercomputer Project Management Office which include civilian salaries, administration, travel, and contractual support. The increase funding in FY 1989 is required for software conversion, limited facilities modification, contractual support for communications assessments and operating costs associated with the establishment of the Joint Army/Academic Center.

This initiative provides contractual support for software modification, documentation, programming, testing and management of STAMMIS financial, personnel, logistical and engineering systems currently in operation. System modification and maintenance is required to keep operational systems current and to provide timely response to change requirements generated by changes in Army policy, regulatory guidance and technology upgrades. In FY 1989 resources are required to continue design and programming efforts, as well as provide for contract support necessary to meet verification, validation and mandatory testing requirements. These independent verification and validation procedures are executed in parallel with the software development activities to identify problems and discrepancies which must be corrected to ensure software reliability. Decreased funding in FY 1989 result from a decrease in the total number of system modifications to be performed in FY 1989.

The Reserve Component Automation System (RCAS) is an independent automated, Army Management Information System that will enable the Army to mobilize the Reserve Component more efficiently and effectively under any level of mobilization category and enhance the Army's mobilization process. RCAS will provide commanders and functional managers in the mobilization management structure accurate, timely and readily accessible information for peacetime command and control, readiness and mobilization planning, execution and support of deployment. Operation and Maintenance, Army resources provide for two aspects of the RCAS, Mobilization Command and Control (MOBC2) and Unit Administration. MOBC2 is the development of application software that supports mobilization information requirements throughout the U.S. Army Reserve, Army National Guard and U.S. Army Forces Command. Unit Administration facilitates the collection of information as well as support local end user management activities. FY 1988 and FY 1989 resources provide for RCAS project management, continued definition and design of MOBC2 application software and independent verification and validation of software fielded systems to the Reserve Component.

In FY 1988 resources were transferred from the Other Procurement, Army appropriation to reflect an increase from the current five thousand dollars investment policy threshold to fifteen thousand dollars. This change in policy will alleviate budget execution problems associated with fluctuations in equipment unit price and uneconomical lease versus buy decisions. This transfer results from a study conducted by the Assistant Secretary of Defense (Comptroller) as requested by the House Armed Services Committee to provide greater efficiency and responsiveness. No resources were provided in FY 1989 for the change in the investment policy threshold.

PROGRAM: COMMUNICATIONS, COMMAND AND CONTROL, INFORMATION SERVICES
ACTIVITY GROUP: TRAFFIC CONTROL, APPROACH AND LANDING SYSTEMS (TRACALS)

1. Narrative Description:

The air traffic control and landing systems activity group provided resources to support normal recurring operating costs necessary to support the Army Aviation Program and to accomplish the tactical and non-tactical air traffic control mission worldwide. The objectives were to achieve management and operational efficiencies through the process of standardization of communication equipment and navigation aids and the centralized management of manpower and financial resources.

11. Description of Operations Financed:

- A. Air Traffic Control-Tactical. Provided for support of all Army Tactical Air Traffic Control/Ground Control Approach Radar System Activities. The activity emphasized mobilization and support of the Army's tactical mission. Included control of aircraft on the ground and in the airspace adjacent to the tactical location; operation of navigational facilities; ground control approach radar system; inspection tests, and organizational maintenance of the air traffic control equipment and systems; maintaining navigational maps, charts, and statistics pertaining to air traffic control matters, flight plans, and weather and safety advisories.
- B. Air Traffic Control Standardization/Improvement. The Standardization/Improvement Program was an ongoing program providing for the correction of Air Traffic Control deficiencies resulting from outdated and inadequate communications equipment and navigational aids. Provided for cost of site preparation, bill of materials, and installation materials for standardization and improvement projects at worldwide locations in support of air traffic control communications systems.
- C. Fixed Base Air Traffic Control Support. Provided support for all Army fixed base air traffic control operations, and for the Aeronautical Service Office, which is the Department of Army representative to the Department of Defense, Inter-agency, and International aviation activities. Included control of aircraft on the ground and in the airspace adjacent to the installation; organizational maintenance of the air traffic control equipment and systems; maintaining navigational maps, charts, and statistics pertaining to air traffic control matters, flight plans, and weather and safety advisories.

JUSTIFICATION OF AMENDED ESTIMATES FOR FY 1988-1989
OPERATION AND MAINTENANCE, ARMY

PROGRAM: COMMUNICATIONS, COMMAND AND CONTROL, INFORMATION SERVICES
ACTIVITY GROUP: COMMUNICATIONS SECURITY (COMSEC)

I. Narrative Description:

The Communications Security (COMSEC) effort is aimed at denying hostile forces the ability to derive national security related information from classified and unclassified communications, as well as preventing the enemy from disrupting such communications. COMSEC activities are required to protect telecommunications, acoustic and optical emissions, and other non-communications related emissions. The Operation and Maintenance appropriation provides resources for the Army's Signal Security program to include TEMPEST* testing; cryptofacility inspections; monitoring and analyses; and COMSEC logistical support in CONUS and overseas. The logistical support includes inventory depot control, storage, issue, and maintenance and ancillary items.

II. Description of Operations Financed:

Resources provide for the pay of civilian personnel, travel and temporary duty expenses of civilian and military personnel performing TEMPEST and other COMSEC functions, operation and maintenance expenses such as repair parts, supplies, materials, and equipment replacement. Activity areas include:

A. US Army Materiel Command (AMC): Army COMSEC logistics is managed by the US Army COMSEC Logistic Activity (CLSA) at Fort Huachuca, Arizona. CLSA is concerned with the requirements determination, distribution and disposal of COMSEC material, parts cataloging, modification procedures and operation of the Army Central Office of Record for COMSEC material. Organizational elements of the CLSA contain the COMSEC National Inventory Control Point (NICP) and the COMSEC National Maintenance Point (NMP). The COMSEC storage and maintenance facility is located at Lexington Blue Grass Depot Activity (LBDA), Lexington, Kentucky. This wholesale support funds for NICP operations, NMP operations, and the Army industrially-funded depot activities of receipt, issue, storage, and overhaul of COMSEC equipment.

11. Description of Operations Financed (Continued):

B. US Army Information Systems Command (USAISC): Overseas logistical support consists of Theater COMSEC Logistic Support Centers (TCLSC) which support theater Army commands and combine the functions of a theater inventory control center and a theater depot; COMSEC Logistic Support Centers (CLSC) which support a field Army or equivalent force; and COMSEC Logistic Support Units (CLSU) which provide maintenance support to lower echelons. These units perform the function of receipt, storage, and issue of COMSEC inventory management stock control, direct and general support maintenance on COMSEC equipment, and operating a direct exchange activity for the repair and replacement of printed wiring assemblies and repairable modules.

C. US Army Intelligence Security Command and Information Management Support Agency: The Army Intelligence and Security Command (INSCOM) evaluates the vulnerability of operational facilities and provides technical TEMPEST guidance to the facility commanders. INSCOM maintains a TEMPEST testing laboratory and field test teams. The TEMPEST test laboratory, located at Vint Hill Farms Station, Virginia, performs controlled environment TEMPEST tests on off-the-shelf commercial information processing equipment used by the Army and provides technical support to the field teams. Each field team tests operations facilities within its area. The goal of the Army is to provide a TEMPEST test of all Army telecommunications facilities every three years. The Information Management Support Agency (IMSA) is a field operating agency of Headquarters, Department of the Army (HQDA). IMSA formulates and recommends to HQDA policy and guidance on Army information management issues encompassing systems security.

* TEMPEST is not an acronym but is the term used by the National Security Agency for compromising emanations from equipment such as reproduction equipment.

This increase in backlog will result in degradation to utilities systems, maintenance and production facilities, and operational facilities.

C. Minor Construction: Finances the erection, installation or assembly of a new facility, or the addition, expansion, alteration or conversion of an existing real property facility when project costs do not exceed $200 thousand.

D. Engineer Support: Finances other facilities engineering services such as fire protection, custodial services, pest control, refuse collection and disposal, snow removal and ice alleviation.

Real Property Maintenance funding has been reduced to levels far below the Annual Recurring Requirement (ARR) in recent years. Consequently, there will be some deterioration of living and working facilities with an associated degradation of living and working conditions at U.S. military installations. For example, many high priority projects to repair utilities systems, troop barracks, maintenance facilities, operational facilities, and more will, for necessity be deferred. The Backlog and Maintenance and Repair (BMAR) will still rise by $.9 million in FY 1989.

PROGRAM: CENTRAL SUPPLY AND MAINTENANCE

I. Description of Operations Financed

This program finances the Army's wholesale logistics system which is comprised of Depot Maintenance, Central Supply and Transportation, as well as related Base Operations, Real Property Maintenance and Environmental Restoration activities. The total request for FY 1989 is $6.0 billion.

The Depot Materiel Maintenance and Support Activities budget request represents an overall $257.1 million program increase from FY 1988 to FY 1989. This level supports funding of 87% Depot Materiel Maintenance and Equipment Modernization of requirements in FY 1989, but still leaves $268.2 million of the program unfunded. Repair of secondary items and support to new Force Modernization Systems have received the highest priority. Within Maintenance Support Activities, New Equipment Training and other support to fielding and sustaining new Force Modernization Systems continues to be the highest priority. Depot Maintenance activity groups are:

- Depot Materiel Maintenance consists of the overhaul, repair, and renovation of unserviceable but repairable materiel for issue to troops in the field. This program returns "like new" equipment to the field at a cost which is far less than the procurement value.
- Equipment modernization consists of the modification or conversion of existing materiel to increase combat effectiveness, safety, reliability and/or maintainability.
- Maintenance Support Activities provide maintenance program planning, integrated logistics support, training, maintenance engineering services, and publications to all levels of the Army maintenance system.

The FY 1988 current estimate for Central Supply Functions (excluding Environmental Restoration) represents, in real terms, a $376 million decrease from FY 1987, while FY 1989 reflects a further decrease of $198 million over FY 1988. Within these constraints the highest priority requirements have been financed; nevertheless, constrained funding has caused all budget activities to be supported at less than satisfactory levels. Details are provided in the accompanying activity groups.

PROGRAM: CENTRAL SUPPLY AND MAINTENANCE

I. Description of Operations Financed (Continued):

- Supply Activities and Logistics Support Activities provide for the shipping, receipt, storage, issue, and management of supplies and equipment. Also included are the negotiation and administration of contracts for procurement of Army weapons systems and their fielding support.
- Transportation workload support includes movement of materiel from the manufacturer and Army depots to Army users worldwide.
- Transportation Management and Overseas Port Units provides for support of Army missions overseas through port terminal facilities. This activity also includes worldwide traffic management and management of the Defense Freight Railway Interchange Fleet.
- Industrial Preparedness Operations provide for maintenance of laidaway equipment and facilities plus planning for Government and private sector production surge requirements during emergencies.
- Resale Commissaries provide for soldier support through the operation and management of stores.
- Environmental Restoration funding provides for the restoration of the natural environment on real property currently controlled by the Department of the Army and at properties formerly controlled by the Department of Defense.
- Base Operations funding provides for installation support functions at 49 locations in CONUS. Costs associated with retail supply operations, below-depot maintenance of materiel, personnel support, unaccompanied personnel housing operations/furnishings, morale, welfare and recreation, General Service Administration furnished leased space outside the National Capital Region that is managed by the Corps of Engineers, and other common support functions are included in this budget activity.
- Real Property Maintenance Activities funding provides for facility support at 49 locations in CONUS. Support includes operation of utilities, maintenance and repair of real property, minor construction and other facilities engineering services such as fire protection, custodial services, etc.
- Industrial Fund and Stock Fund Support is not an operational program. The budget display reflects financial adjustments between appropriated customer programs and the Defense and Army Stock Funds and the Services' Industrial Funds. These adjustments provide for additional reimbursement to or refunds/transfers from the Industrial and Stock Funds.

The following is a list of principal activities funded by this program:

Absorption of the above price growth changes have resulted in further programmatic decreases to all Central Supply and Maintenance Budget Activities. The result is further degradation to Supply Depot Operations, including delays in receipt and issue activities and increasing backlogs in central procurement actions; lowered funding for Transportation causes delays or cancellations of shipments for war reserves, ammunition buildup and POMCUS. Base Operations and Real Property Maintenance Activities' support, already far below FY 1987 actual levels, is further deteriorated.

PROGRAM: CENTRAL SUPPLY AND MAINTENANCE
ACTIVITY GROUP: SUPPLY OPERATIONS

I. Description of Operations Financed

This activity's request of $1,153 million in FY 1989 provides for Supply Depot Operations, Supply Management Operations and Central Procurement operations which support the equipping, deploying and sustaining of Army and other service forces worldwide. This budget request reflects decreases in real program growth of $120 million in FY 1988 and $148.3 million in FY 1989. The Army's conscious decision to maintain level of funding for training and OPEMPO and then fund other programs within constrained resources has resulted in large decreases in supply operations.

Wholesale supply operations face record workloads following the large scale build-up and modernization efforts and increased Depot Maintenance Program over the past several years. The expanding number and complexity of end items, repair parts, ammunition, and other equipment have presented the central supply system with the problem of having to accomplish rising receipt, issue and storage requirements within severely constrained resourcing. The emphasis of this budget request is to meet the highest priority receipt and issue workload requiring deferral of important storage support requirements. These storage functions are funded at less than 35% of requirements in FY 1988 and approximately 10% in FY 1989. Efforts to improve the state of inventory accountability throughout the supply system are severely curtailed in FY 1988 and FY 1989. Caring for supplies in storage and reprocessing of reusable excess materiel are desirable both operationally and economically; however these requirements cannot be accomplished fully within current funding levels.

Supply Operations functions contribute to the total logistics effort worldwide and improve readiness and responsiveness for forces in the field. Specific functions included are:

- a. Supply Depot Operations ($682.7 million). Supply depots perform the full range of wholesale supply operations functions with special emphasis on timely receiving and shipping to ensure that materiel required by field units and depot maintenance activities is available in the quantity and condition required.
- b. Supply Management Operations ($185 million). Provide for the maintenance of up-to-date inventory control records which accurately show the availability, condition and location of all items for which the Army has responsibility. Included in these operations are: receipt and processing of requisitions in a timely manner, and the maintenance of the Army's part of the Federal Catalog System which involves the preparation and submission of pertinent data for new items entering the system as well as the publication of new/revised catalogs which are the official media for dissemination of supply data to the field.

c. Central Procurement Activities ($285 million). Obtain the supplies, materiel, and equipment needed by the Army from commercial sources. In the Continental United States (CONUS) there are twenty Army activities performing central procurement functions and in Europe there are nine Army central procurement offices. These activities include processing procurement actions, preparing and issuing solicitation documents, evaluating bids and proposals, conducting contract negotiations and awards, executing contract modifications, conducting surveillance of contractor performance, performing quality assurance functions from initial procurement planning through close out of the contract file, and conducting cost/price analyses and "should cost" studies.

II. Financial Summary (O&M: $ in Thousands)

B. Reconciliation of Increases and Decreases.

Program Decreases:

a. Depot Storage Support Operations. (Base: $91,009).....$ 60,600

Reduction forces depots to further upgrade important storage functions including Care of Supplies in Storage (COSIS), physical inventory accountability operations and warehousing, in order to execute receipt and issue workload in support of the Depot Maintenance Program and forces in the field. Postponement of physical inventories and COSIS drives up the long-term supply costs, diminishes the ability to process requisitions in a timely manner, allows deterioration of supplies and results in increased order-ship-time. Ultimately, increased back orders for general supplies and ammunition will degrade operational readiness rates of field units and availability of supplies in the event of surge requirements.

b. Excess Materiel Depot Reprocessing and Redistribution. (Base: $24,500).....$ -20,500

This reduction constrains the ability of depots and the European redistribution facility to fully process and redistribute materiel returns causing a growing backlog and failure to return usable materiel back into the supply system. Over 870 thousand lines of materiel returns are expected from field units in FY 1988 and FY 1989. Inability to return these items into the supply pipeline not only creates a growing "iron mountain" at the depots but decreases supply availability and increases procurement requirements which are unfunded.

II. Financial Summary (Q&M: $ in Thousands):

B. Reconciliation of Increases and Decreases:

c. Supply Management and Central Procurement Operations. (Base: $286,035).....$ -32,152

This reduction diminishes the ability of the National Inventory Control Points to effectively process requisitions and to manage inventory requirements adding to an already extensive backlog of 72 thousand procurement actions at end of FY 1987. This procurement backlog will grow by 33% in FY 1988 and over 56% in FY 1989 to nearly 112 thousand procurement actions by yearend FY 1989. The inability to fully process procurement actions requirements degrades long-term supply availability. Contract quality assurance and oversight of contractors will also be reduced.

d. Europe Storage Operations (Base: $124,584).....$ -22,600

Halts the contractual effort to maintain forward storage sites in USAREUR which provides storage, preservation, inventory and security of supplies required in support of forward corps. These greatly enhance the readiness of our most forward deployed troops by positioning resources directly with the fighting units. This reduction also delays the ability to fill NATO infrastructure warehousing which also impacts readiness in Europe.

e. Ammunition Buildup Storage Operations, Europe (Base: $18,900).....$ -14,600

Reduces resources to handle, manage and maintain additional ammunition tonnage in Europe, preventing USAREUR from reaching planned stockage levels and resulting in reduced war fighting capability at the very time that this capability is becoming critical.

NARRATIVE EXPLANATION OF PERSONNEL END STRENGTH CHANGES:

MILITARY

The increase of 91 in FY 89 reflects further adjustments in supply depots (+44); inventory control (+31); and procurement operations (+16).

CIVILIAN

The net increase of 1,471 in FY 89 is associated with supply depot operations (-388); inventory control point (+38); procurement operations (-2); and the planned conversion of Army Missile Command from industrial fund operation to appropriated fund operations (+1,823). Due to the postponement of decapitalization of the Army Missile Command until FY 1990, action is underway to restore this manpower to the Army Industrial Fund.

PROGRAM: CENTRAL SUPPLY AND MAINTENANCE
ACTIVITY GROUP: LOGISTICS SUPPORT ACTIVITIES

I. Description of Operations Financed

This activity's budget request of $626.9 million in FY 1989 provides for a variety of logistics support functions which support the equipping, deploying and sustaining of Army and other Service forces worldwide.

The Logistics Support Program declines by $86 million in FY 1988 and an additional $53 million in FY 1989 and reflects the Army's conscious effort to accomplish its highest priority readiness related missions, and then fund other programs within constrained resources. The major decreases to this program in FY 1989 include a reduction to Management Headquarters Activities of $22.5 million, Conventional Ammunition Demilitarization of $15 million, and Production Engineering of $13 million. This program also includes $7.0 million in price growth.

Logistics Support functions contribute to the total logistics effort worldwide and improve readiness and responsiveness to the forces in the field. Special functions included are:

- a. Logistics Administrative Support ($95.4 million): Project Management for non-ADP logistics systems obtains its sole source of Operation and Maintenance, Army (OMA) funding in this activity group. The OMA funding of a Project Manager Activity begins when a system transitions from the research and development phase into production and fielding. The systems selected for intensive project management are those of great complexity and criticality to the Army's mission. Also included in this program are the HQ, Troop Support Agency, the Logistics Evaluation Agency, the U.S. Army Contracting Support Agency, the Army Materiel Systems Analysis Agency, Test and Evaluation Command, and the Product Assurance Test and Fielding Activity.
- b. Audiovisual and Teleconferencing Support Activities ($9.3 million): Provides for still and motion picture photography to include optical instrumentation, television and audio recording, production and documentation, graphic illustration, library aids and devices, audiovisual support center operations and teleconferencing support for the U.S. Army Materiel Command mission.
- c. Troop Issue Subsistence Activities ($27.6 million): Provides for requisitioning, receiving, storing, issuing, and selling of subsistence items to authorized appropriated and non-appropriated fund dining facilities, officer and enlisted clubs, medical facilities, and Reserve and National Guard organizations.
- d. Management Headquarters ($144.7 million): Provides the technical direction and management of the total wholesale supply and maintenance system.

- e. Logistics Support Activities ($157.4 million): Includes production engineering for stock fund and procurement items, the Army Defense Standardization Program, conventional ammunition demilitarization, printing of logistics forms and publications, and other attendant central supply functions.
- f. Information Management ($152.7 million): Provides for costs incurred in the administration and management of Deputy Chief of Staff for Information Management (DCSIM) elements and for the Director of Information Management (DOIM) staff elements; provides for analysis, design, programming, operations and maintenance of computer systems to provide automation support, and associated personnel, equipment, and all other costs in support of mission data processing facilities; provides resources for management of information systems or projects for which a Program or Project Manager has been formally appointed by the Senior Functional Policy official (normally the Assistant Secretary of the Army); and provides resources for the operation of an organization, or segments thereof, which is responsible for designing, coding, testing, documenting and subsequently maintaining/modifying computer operations or applications programs for MACOM or Army-wide use.
- g. Local Communications ($39.9 million): Provides for local phone service, long distance, local dedicated circuits, autovon and FTS communications.

II. Financial Summary (OGM): $ in thousands:

Program Decreases:

- a. Conventional Ammunition Demilitarization (Base: $21,318).....$ -15,111
Funding at this level will increase the stockpile of ammunition awaiting demilitarization by 12,000 short tons in FY 1989. The growing stockpile occupies valuable storage space and utilizes scarce resources for inventory and inspection. Further, as EPA standards become more stringent requiring closed-pit detonation, costs to demilitarize will increase dramatically.
- b. Production Engineering (Base: $34,311).....$ -13,000
Reduced funding results in decreased production engineering to provide technical data packages, special dies and tooling, computer modeling, manpower studies and engineering change proposals. This will increase Operations and Support (O&S) costs throughout the life cycle.
- c. Other Logistical Automation Systems (Base: $64,637).....$ -7,694
This reduction delays efforts to upgrade various logistical automated software systems causing organizations to continue to use outdated and more costly automation systems for a longer period of time.
- d. Defense Standardization (Base: $21,813).....$ -1,806
The Standardization Program provides commonality of stocked items among the Services. This reduction results in inability to update specifications and in the proliferation of non-standard items into the Army inventory. In addition, this reduction results in increased need for procurement and stockage of service-unique items.

f. Management Headquarters Activities (Base: $175,116).....$ -22,500
This budget program provides resources for the U.S. Army Materiel Command and its subordinate mid-management and staff support activity functions. Organizations funded provide technical control and direction of the whole-sale supply and maintenance systems including storage, distribution, depot level maintenance, demilitarization, disposal, project managers, maintenance of the industrial base, and procurement operations. These organizations perform command managerial functions, including development and implementation of new or improved systems, civilian and military manpower management, employee safety programs, inspector general activities and technical surveillance of Army logistics operations worldwide. There are 591 workyears associated with this decrease.

g. Project Managers (Base: $109,138).....$ -10,000
This reduction results in the decline of fielding support of new and existing systems with a resulting decrease in system readiness and capability. This decrease equates to 200 workyears.

Narrative Explanation of Changes:

MILITARY

The increase in FY 1989 reflects the planned transfer of the U.S. Army Missile Command (MICOM) from the Industrial Fund (107) and Other Logistics Realignments (27)

CIVILIAN

The net increase of 1,382 end strength reflects the planned decapitalization of MICOM (+1,347), additional support for logistics operational functions (+626) offset by a reduction in Management Headquarters resources (-591). In addition, workyears have been adjusted to achieve additional economies

Due to postponement of the planned decapitalization of MICOM until FY 1990, MICOM personnel resources will be restored to the Industrial Fund during FY 1989.

I. Description of Operations Financed

This activity's budget request of $77.5 million in FY 1989 provides for overseas port operations, the Defense Freight Railway Interchange Fleet (DFRIF), and the transportation management functions and operations at the Military Traffic Management Command (MTMC). The FY 1988 program reflects a decrease for the extension of the Army Industrial Fund to the European ports ($-17.9 million).

Overseas Port Operations ($36.0 million in FY 1989) include stevedore and local traffic management services and related administration, documentation, data processing, temporary storage, and cargo handling materiel. This includes non-reimbursable services for all Department of Defense and other designated agencies located in the overseas theater. Overseas ports are located in Japan, Okinawa, Korea, Hawaii, and Alaska.

The Defense Freight Railway Interchange Fleet (DFRIF) ($2.0 million in FY 1989) is a fleet of general and special purpose rail cars numbering more than 2,900 managed by the Military Traffic Management Command. These rail cars are used commercially in peacetime and are required for mobilization.

Military Traffic Management ($39.5 million in FY 1989) provides for traffic management functions essential for the economical and efficient routing and booking of total defense cargo.

I. Description of Operations Financed

This activity's budget request of $93.6 million in FY 1989 finances the maintenance of the inactive reserve industrial base and the development and implementation of plans to expand and enhance production capability to support national security objectives. A responsive, capable and flexible industrial base requires a level of funding sufficient to: maintain active and inactive government owned production facilities and equipment in a ready condition; preclude deterioration of Government-Owned Contractor-Operated (GOCO) and Government-Owned Government-Operated (GOGO) plants and equipment; and provide adequate planning with civilian industry to meet wartime emergency production requirements. The FY 1989 level is comprised of $3.0 million in price growth and $-4.0 million program growth compared to FY 1988.

This program provides for retention and maintenance of laidaway production capacity, industrial preparedness planning for mobilization, surge, sustainability, and management of the production base support and manufacturing technology programs:

- a. Reserve Industrial Plants ($39.9 million): Supports the retention, maintenance and protection of the government-owned, inactive plants and inactive lines of active plants which are needed to assure emergency production capacity for mission essential materiel. Includes plant administration, surveillance inspection, protection, and maintenance and repair of buildings, grounds, railroads, integral equipment, and utilities.
- b. Reserve Industrial Equipment ($16.5 million): Supports the maintenance, protection, repair, and rebuild of government-owned plant equipment packages including: industrial plant equipment, other plant equipment, special tooling and special test equipment. These plant equipment packages are maintained in anticipation of future production and mobilization requirements of ammunition, weapons, combat vehicles, missiles, aircraft, tactical vehicles, communications and electronic commodities.
- c. Industrial Base Management ($37.2 million): Funds in-house and contractual planning efforts encompassing activities such as the development of emergency production requirements for critical materiel; planning of production program for selected critical items and industrial sources (government-owned and private); programming of industrial operations to assure an adequate, timely supply of essential materiel; planning and programming of manpower requirements; management of technical data; operation of priority planning and allocation systems; and supervision and project management of the production base support program.

JUSTIFICATION OF AMENDED BUDGET ESTIMATES FOR FY 1988/89
OPERATION AND MAINTENANCE, ARMY

PROGRAM: CENTRAL SUPPLY AND MAINTENANCE
ACTIVITY GROUP: INDUSTRIAL PREPAREDNESS OPERATIONS

The decreases to this program in FY 1988/1989 represent the Army's conscious, deliberate effort to accomplish the highest priority readiness related missions, and then fund other programs within constrained resources. Given today's readiness requirements, and austere funding environment, the Army is unable to finance the Industrial Preparedness Operations (IPO) Program at the desired level. The constrained funding of the FY 1989 IPO program necessitates the elimination of all maintenance of laidaway industrial equipment at 24 Government-Owned Contractor-Operated (GOCO) plants and minimal maintenance of laidaway equipment at five Government-Owned Government-Operated plants. Additionally, no rehabilitation of Plant Equipment Packages will be accomplished in the FY 1989 program. Reductions to the overall 7S program have resulted in critical funding shortages within the IPO program, preventing the required "high state" of readiness at the reserve industrial plants. The backlog of annual maintenance continues to increase with an estimated response time required for mobilization of approximately 390 days. Planning with industry for mobilization and emergency production will be sustained in FY 1989 in order to provide the least-risk capability for handling critical surge requirements. The FY 1989 program reflects a level of funding consistent with FY 1988. The Army recognizes the importance of the Industrial Preparedness Program and will attempt to fund it in the future commensurate with industrial base requirements.

No end strength change in FY 1989.

CIVILIAN

The increase of 28 in FY 1989 results from the planned conversion of Army Missile Command (MICOM) from Industrial Fund Operation to Appropriated Fund Operation. Due to postponement of the decapitalization of MICOM until FY 1990 this manpower will be restored to the Army Industrial Fund during FY 1989.

1. Description of Operations Financed

This activity's request of $695.3 million in FY 1989 provides for the movement of materiel to Army forces worldwide for sustaining, deploying, and force modernization. The FY 1989 program reflects the extension of the Army Industrial Fund to the European ports ($17.9) and reflects a decrease of $-57.6 million in real program growth. The decrease in transportation in FY 1988/1989 represents the Army's conscious decision to maintain level of funding for training and OPTempo and then fund other programs within constrained resources. While the Army is unable to fund transportation costs at the desired level, shipments of the most essential cargo will be maintained. This level of funding requires cut backs in the transportation of POMCUS, Prepositioned Reserve Stocks, and Ammunition Buildup in Europe and Korea impacting war fighting capability and the ability to meet strategic lift requirements in time of war. The FY 1989 request reflects an increase of $125 million transferred from other Services to accommodate the increased industrial fund rates and an additional program decrease of $15.6 million.

This activity consists of First Destination Transportation and Second Destination Transportation.

a. First Destination Transportation ($52.6 million in FY 1989) funds the movement of materiel produced in government-owned, contractor-operated plants, or purchased from commercial vendors, to depot storage, U.S. ports or using units. When this materiel is transported directly from point of purchase to any destination in the continental United States, the entire movement is funded from First Destination Transportation.

b. After receipt from place of procurement, transportation to using units is provided by Second Destination Transportation ($642.7 million in FY 1989) which funds the worldwide movement of Army supplies and equipment by civilian and military air and surface modes. It provides for the transshipment of cargo through Army industrially funded ports. This activity also funds the transportation of Army civilian employees and their dependents on permanent change of station; the movement of mail, subsistence and other fact of life necessities. The costs of charter, rental or lease of transportation movement equipment and services not available on a government tariff basis are also included.

ACTIVITY GROUP: RESALE COMMISSARIES

I. Description of Operations Financed

This activity's budget request of $215.7 million in FY 1989 provides for the centralized management and operation of resale commissary stores serving U.S. Forces and their dependents worldwide. Adequate resourcing of resale commissary operations is essential to troop morale, their quality of life and helps attract and retain the quality of personnel required to adequately man the force in support of Army readiness. The FY 1989 level is comprised of $5.1 million price growth and $20.9 million programmatic decrease growth compared to FY 1988.

Commissary Operations ($196.8 million): Provides for operation of commissary stores which supply meat, produce, groceries, and household supplies on a retail sales basis to authorized commissary customers world-wide. Funds are used for payment of personnel costs, travel, and training.

Administration ($18.9 million): Provides for the operation of USA Troop Support Agency, Directorate of Commissary Operations and its subordinate regions; includes funds for payment of civilian personnel, utilities and required travel to effect command, control and efficiency of operations of widely dispersed commissary activities.

DEPARTMENT OF THE ARMY
JUSTIFICATION OF AMENDED BUDGET ESTIMATE FOR FY 1988/89
OPERATION AND MAINTENANCE, ARMY

PROGRAM: CENTRAL SUPPLY AND MAINTENANCE
ACTIVITY GROUP: INDUSTRIAL FUND AND STOCK FUND SUPPORT

I. Description of Operations Financed

This program reflects funding to reimburse DOD industrial funds and stock funds for costs not recovered through customer rates. In the original FY 1988/1989 President's Budget, refunds from industrial and stock funds were also reflected. These budgeted refunds are no longer shown in this schedule but have been shown as transfers where resources were actually available to repay OMA for the budgeted reduction. (Because the Defense Stock Fund, Military Airlift Command and Military Traffic Management Command were unable to provide their refunds, OMA Program 7S (Mission) was forced to take programmatic decreases totaling $73.6 million.)

DOD industrial funds and stock funds operate under a rate stabilization policy established by the Secretary of Defense. Financial resources requested in various appropriated fund customer programs reflect the impact of approved stabilized rates. Changes to established rates are disruptive to both customer program and industrial fund and stock fund operations. The Department executes its programs at established stabilized rates with additional reimbursement to or transfers from industrial funds and stock funds, as appropriate.

FY 1987 reflects refunds of $466.2 million from the Stock Fund and $367.5 million from the Industrial Fund. These amounts are offset by a $102.4 million reimbursement (passthrough) for the FY 1987 Army Industrial Fund (AIF) retained earnings and Federal Employee Retirement System (FERS).

A Congressionally directed $75.0 million refund from excess industrial fund profits is included to fund depot maintenance requirements for communications-electronic (C-E) equipment in FY 1987. These funds were applied to Other Depot Maintenance.

The FY 1988 estimate reflects a passthrough to the Communications Services Industrial Fund (CSIF) of $13.0 million to recoup prior year losses; the FY 1989 estimate reflects passthroughs to the Army Industrial Fund (AIF) of $143.0 million to recoup prior year losses and restore financial stability to the AIF.

The Congressional authorization and appropriation committees are familiar with the price stabilization policy and are aware that DOD will continue to execute programs at stabilized published rates and make adjustments for results of industrially funded and stock funded operations through this budget activity group and through transfers from revolving funds reflected in other budget activity groups.

I. Narrative Description: This budget activity provides Real Property Maintenance Activities (RPMA) support for 45 major US Army Materiel Command (AMC) installations and 3 major Military Traffic Management Command (MTMC) installations, and US Army Corps of Engineers (USACE) activities associated with Central Supply and Maintenance Activities. The FY 1989 amended request totals $284.2 million. Major program increases/decreases contained in this request are as follows:

Program	FY 1989
Functional Program Transfers	11,361
Hazardous Waste Disposal Operations	2,968
Real Property Maintenance	8,477
Utilities Savings-Energy Conservation	-193

II. Description of Operations Financed: Funds requested will provide support in four functional areas of Real Property Maintenance Activities. These functional areas are:

- A. Operation of Utilities - Finances procurement, production and distribution of utilities for AMC and MTMC installations. Included are purchased utilities (i.e., heat, electricity, water and sewerage), operation of water plants and distribution system, and sewage and waste systems.
- B. Maintenance and Repair of Real Property - Finances maintenance and repair of buildings, structures, roads, railroads, grounds and utility systems at the 49 installations/locations. The Maintenance and Repair (BMAR) will increase $19.8 million. This increase in backlog will result in degradation to utilities systems, maintenance and production facilities, and operational facilities. Migration in the amount of $5 million has been considered in estimating the BMAR.
- C. Minor Construction - Finances the erection, installation or assembly of a new real property facility, or the addition, alteration or conversion of an existing real property facility when project costs do not exceed $200 thousand.
- D. Engineer Support - Finances other facilities engineering services such as fire protection, custodial services, pest control, refuse collection and disposal, snow removal and ice alleviation. Includes resources for Real Estate Administration, Construction Support, and other development and management assistance provided by USACE to Army installations worldwide.

I. Reconciliation of Increases/Decreases (Continued):

Program Increases

a. Hazardous Waste Disposal Operations (Base: $21,067).....$ 2,968

Increases the higher cost of some area hazardous waste disposal. Increases are due to: more timely disposal actions, precluding stockpiling; safety improvements in collecting, transporting, processing, and disposing; increased requirements for sampling/analysis and record keeping/reports; other compliance with revised state and federal regulations. The Army is implementing measures to reduce the generation of Hazardous Waste and the cost avoidance is included in the budget request.

b. Real Property Maintenance (Base: $53,554).....$ 8,477

Real Property Maintenance funding has been reduced to levels far below the Annual Recurring Requirement (ARR) in recent years. This programmatic increase will partially close the gap but does not fully fund the ARR due to overall budget constraints. Consequently, there will be some deterioration of existing Army facilities with an associated degradation of living and working conditions at U.S. military installations. For example, many high priority projects to repair utilities systems, troop barracks, maintenance facilities, operational facilities, and more will, of necessity, be deferred. The Backlog of Maintenance and Repair (BMAP) will still rise by $19.8 million in FY 1989.

B. Reconciliation of Increases/Decreases (Continued):

Program Decreases

- a. Utilities Savings - Energy Conservation (Base: $24,178).....$ -193
The Army has invested large sums in energy conservation devices and methods over the past several years. The Army energy plan projects a reduction in utilities consumption in its facilities of 40 percent by FY 2000 from the level experienced in FY 1975. The combination of investments in technology and emphasis on conservation has reduced consumption levels. This downward adjustment reflects these savings.

DEPARTMENT OF THE ARMY
JUSTIFICATION OF AMENDED BUDGET ESTIMATES FOR FY 1988/89
OPERATION AND MAINTENANCE, ARMY

PROGRAM: CENTRAL SUPPLY AND MAINTENANCE
ACTIVITY GROUP: MODERNIZATION

I. Description of Operations Financed

The equipment Modernization Program provides for the modification or conversion of materiel already in the Army inventory. Modification is the application of changes to materiel which do not greatly alter the basic characteristics of the item in terms of mission, performance, or capability. Conversion is the application of changes so extensive as to alter an item's basic characteristics in terms of mission, performance or capability and results in a new nomenclature of the items.

The Modernization program request for FY 1989 is $116.4 million. This funding level represents a programmatic increase of $9.6 million in FY 1989. The largest single effort in this program is the M60 conversion program. The Army is committed to converting M60A1 tanks to M60A3 tanks and transferring the upgraded tanks to the Reserve Components. The modernization of missile systems such as the HAWK and Chaparral account for approximately forty percent of the missile program. These upgrades consist of increasing capability by enhancing their target acquisition capability and by improving reliability of the Chaparral's hydraulic system. These funding levels represent a conscious effort to fund this program at a level commensurate with constrained funding and availability of kits, parts, and workload capability.

OPERATION AND MAINTENANCE, ARMY

PROGRAM: CENTRAL SUPPLY AND MAINTENANCE
ACTIVITY GROUP: OTHER DEPOT MAINTENANCE

I. Description of Operations Financed

The Other Depot Maintenance Program constitutes the bulk of depot maintenance and finances the overhaul and depot level repair of major and secondary items, renovation of conventional ammunition, and the calibration of test, measurement, and diagnostic equipment. Returns from depot maintenance and new procurement are the only sources of serviceable equipment for the Army's supply system. Depot maintenance returns generally cost approximately one-third, are available sooner, and are an attractive alternative to new procurement in terms of supporting Army readiness.

The Other Depot Maintenance Program request for FY 1989 is $1,709.2 million. This funding level represents a programmatic increase of $254.8 million in FY 1989. This results in 89 percent of requirements being funded in FY 1989. The funding in support of Force Modernization systems continues to increase as the fielded density increases thus driving increases in the amount of secondaries being overhauled. Additionally, the previously fielded Force Modernization end items are beginning to be overhauled. Also, the fielded density of non-Force Modernization systems is not decreasing significantly as these systems are either being retained in the Active Army or transferred to the Reserve Components. The M60 tank and UH1 helicopter are being displaced by the M1 tank and UH60 helicopter, respectively, but are not experiencing significant decreasing fielded densities. For example, although the FY 1989 fleet of M60 tanks is located primarily in the Reserve Components, the overhaul of secondary items remains an DMA responsibility and the transfer to the Reserve Components is frequently preceded by an overhaul or repair of the fleet in conjunction with its conversion to the M60A3 Tank.

Narrative Explanation of Changes:

MILITARY

Net increase of 961 end strength reflects the planned transfer of the U.S. Army Missile Command (MICOM) from the Industrial Fund (+985) and force structure realignment (-24).

CIVILIAN

Transfer of MICOM from the Industrial Fund (1,117 end strength and 1,209 workyears).

Due to the postponement of the MICOM decapitalization until FY 1990, personnel resources will be restored to the Industrial Fund during FY 1989.

DEPARTMENT OF THE ARMY
JUSTIFICATION OF AMENDED BUDGET ESTIMATES FOR FY 1988/89
OPERATION AND MAINTENANCE, ARMY

PROGRAM: CENTRAL SUPPLY AND MAINTENANCE
ACTIVITY GROUP: MAINTENANCE SUPPORT ACTIVITIES

I. Description of Operations Financed

Maintenance Support Activities focus primarily on supporting readiness of the field forces. The program is critical to the fielding of new systems and equipment; provides engineering support before, during, and after deployment; provides the nucleus for maintenance of new equipment training for units receiving equipment; responsible for revision and update of publications, technical manuals; and provides for Department of the Army civilian and contractor technical assistance required to support equipment when fielded.

Maintenance Support Activities start with the concept phase - provisioning, validation of technical and maintenance procedures, maintenance supportability concepts and fielding plans - and this support continues after completion of system production. At this time, Maintenance Support Activities assume full responsibility for all hardware and software design support, development of provisioning plans, updating equipment publications, and the maintenance of the technical data packages to support the continuing procurement of repair parts. These functions, in support of systems already in the hands of Army users, comprise the largest portions of Maintenance Support Activities.

The Maintenance Support Activities request is $629.0 million for FY 1989. This funding represents a decreasing program when inflation is considered. It is a function of constrained resources and represents a prudent risk to the sustenance of the Army's readiness.

Resources of this program are determined by the number of different systems in use rather than the equipment densities within systems. The program drivers are weapon systems deployment, older systems still in the field, and system complexity. New system fieldings are continuing, thereby increasing the number of different systems fielded and the density of equipment since the vast majority of the older systems are being retained in either the active Army or the Reserve Components. The Bradley Fighting Vehicle (BFVS) is an example of the increasing complexity of the new systems. It requires 1,400 organizational maintenance tasks versus 742 for the M113A2 personnel carrier. A new and technologically complex item of equipment will not improve combat effectiveness unless it is maintained. A system cannot be properly maintained unless the personnel in the field and the depots are provided the proper training and technical assistance, updated technical manuals, bulletins and repair standards and the review and implementation of suggested or required improvements.

Funding in the amount of $5.3 million in FY 1989 is included for partial funding of Single Manager for Conventional Ammunition (SMCA) in this activity.

PROGRAM: TRAINING

I. Description of Operations Financed

Program 8-Training provides for the operation and maintenance of the United States Army's school system and other selected training and training support activities. The training establishment must be capable of fulfilling the individual peacetime and mobilization training requirements of both the Active and Reserve Components of the Army; civilian employees of the Department of the Army and other government agencies; selected members of other services; and, individual members of the military services of other nations. This training is accomplished at Army training centers and schools, Department of Defense and Joint Service schools and colleges, civilian colleges and universities and schools of other nations. Additionally, this budget program provides resources for the Senior Reserve Officers' Training Corps (ROTC) program which is conducted at colleges and universities throughout the United States. Program 8-Training also provides for the development, improvement and distribution of instructional material; the development of new training technology, and training assistance to units and their assigned personnel.

The major objectives of this Army budget program are:

To provide initial entry training with demanding standards designed to produce confident, disciplined and toughened soldiers capable of performing as contributing members of their assigned units.

To provide the skill and functional training necessary to develop the individual soldier skills required by the Army.

To provide Army sponsored training for selected Department of Army civilians, members of other services, other Department of Defense agencies and selected local, state and national governments.

PROGRAM: TRAINING

I. Description of Operations Financed (Continued):

To develop new training technology and implement coordinated training initiatives needed to enhance the individual soldier's skill and proficiency in a more efficient and cost effective individual training program in the Army.

To provide a complete program of training materials to be exported from the various Army schools to train the individual soldier in the units.

Program 8-Training provides resources for the operation and maintenance of eight Army Training Centers, 30 Army schools and colleges, and six Department of Defense and Joint Service schools and colleges. This budget program also supports four Reserve Officers' Training Corps (ROTC) regional headquarters and 318 Senior ROTC detachments located on college and university campuses throughout the United States, Puerto Rico, Guam, and the Virgin Islands. Program 8-Training supports Army unique training provided to members of other services; Department of Defense and other Federal Agencies; selected local, state and national governments; and members of the armed forces of other nations.

JUSTIFICATION OF AMENDED ESTIMATES FOR FY 1988, 1989
OPERATION AND MAINTENANCE, ARMY

PROGRAM: TRAINING

I. Description of Operations Financed (Continued):

The development and improvement of training technology and the distribution of instructional programs are financed by this budget program. Program 8-Training also provides training assistance to Active and Reserve Component units and their assigned personnel outside the training establishment. This assistance includes the procurement and distribution of certain training aids and devices, audio-visual instructional materials, and training publications for Army-wide and DOD-wide use.

The FY 1989 request for Program 8 Training (Mission) totals $1,129,425 a net increase of $57,689 over FY 1988. Of this amount $36,264, is related to program growth. These resources provide for the Force Modernization program, reserve component training, and a decrease of 251 training loads. Funding for Force Modernization will provide for the initial provisioning of equipment used in training, operator and maintenance training, training manuals and source material, and recurring costs associated with systems already fielded.

The Program 8 Training (Base Operations) request provides for the operation and maintenance of installation support, less real property maintenance activities, for the Army Training Base at 18 installation/locations in CONUS. Support provided includes: supply operations; maintenance of materiel; transportation services; laundry and dry cleaning services; Army Food Service Program; bachelor housing operations and furnishings; personnel, administration; automation activities; community and morale activities; and preservation of order.

The Real Property Maintenance Activities (RPMA) provides support for 18 Army installations in the Army's Training Base, including the US Army Military Academy. This support includes; operation of utilities; maintenance of real property; minor construction; and other engineering support.

PROGRAM: TRAINING
ACTIVITY GROUP: RECRUIT TRAINING

I. Narrative Description

This activity group provides for the operation and support of Army Training Centers where Basic Training (BT) is conducted. Recruit Training is the eight week introductory and combat survival skill training given to enlisted personnel upon their initial entry into military service or to prior service personnel in need of refresher training. This training provides an orderly transition from civilian to military life, motivation to become a dedicated and productive member of the Army, and the basic combat survival skills required of all service members. This activity group also supports the training of personnel attending ROTC Basic Summer Camp at the Army Training Center, Ft. Knox, KY.

Training input is programed based upon the approved Army Manpower Program, the Army National Guard and U.S. Army Reserve Active Duty for Training Program, and the requirements reflected in the Army Program for Individual Training (ARPRINT).

II. Description of Operations Financed

Costs charged to this account include civilian pay and benefits, trainee support, resident instruction, local preparation of training aids and training literature, consumer procurement of supplies and equipment, and contractual services. Also included are temporary duty (travel and per diem) for staff and faculty trips, and organizational clothing and equipment issued for use during the training period.

These associated costs are a combination of fixed, semi-fixed and variable costs. Fixed costs related to items such as minimum level of staffing, equipment and communications will be incurred as long as these functions are performed. Semi-fixed costs within certain ranges are not directly influenced by changes in training loads. Changes above or below these ranges necessitate the addition or deletion of items such as personnel staffing, equipment and communications. Variable costs in this account are determined by annual increases or decreases in training workload requirements. The FY 1989 resources support a training workload requirement of 20,802 an increase of 2275 over the FY 1988 requirement of 19,502. FY 1989 funding resources are based on a 95 percent workload.

PROGRAM: TRAINING

ACTIVITY GROUP: ONE STATION UNIT TRAINING (OSUT)

I. Narrative Description

This activity group provides for the operation and support of initial entry training under the One Station Unit Training (OSUT) concept. OSUT combines Recruit Training and Initial Skill Training (Enlisted) in combat arms and certain combat support skills into a single course conducted by a single training unit under one cadre group for the entire period of training. OSUT requires less training time than the separate Recruit Training and Initial Skill Training (Enlisted) courses it replaced; in FY88/89 the Recruit Training/Initial Skill Training (Enlisted) combination average about 17 weeks, while the shorter OSUT courses will average 14 weeks.

Training input is programmed based on the Approved Army Manpower Program, and the Army National Guard and US Army Reserve Active Duty for Training Program, and the requirements as reflected in the Army Program for Individual Training (ARPRINT).

II. Description of Operations Financed

Costs charged to this account include civilian pay and benefits, trainee support, resident instruction, local preparation of training aids and training literature, consumer procurement of supplies and equipment, and contractual services. Also included are temporary duty (travel and per diem) for staff and faculty trips, and organizational clothing and equipment issued for use during the training period.

These associated costs are a combination of fixed, semi-fixed and variable costs. Fixed costs related to items such as minimum level of staffing, equipment and communications will be incurred as long as these functions are performed. Semi-fixed costs within certain ranges are not directly influenced by changes in training loads. Changes above or below these ranges necessitate the addition or deletion of items such as personnel staffing, equipment and communications. Variable costs are determined by increases or decreases in training workload requirements. The FY 1989 resources support a training workload requirement of 14,550 a decrease of 1,659 over the FY 1988 requirement of 16,209. FY 1989 funding resources are based on a 95 percent workload.

PROGRAM: TRAINING
ACTIVITY GROUP: OFFICER ACQUISITION

I. Narrative Description

This activity group provides for the operation and support of the United States Military Academy (USMA), the United States Military Academy Preparatory School (USMAPS) and the Branch Immaterial Officer Candidate Course (BIOCC).

With an average enrollment of 4,400 cadets, the US Military Academy's curriculum is oriented primarily toward academics during the school year and intensive military training during the summer months. Each July approximately 1,400 new cadets are trained and equipped to enter the Corps of Cadets, bringing the USMA up to its authorized strength. The four-year course of instruction, which results in a Bachelor of Science degree, is designed to produce career-oriented officers for the Army.

The US Army Military Academy Preparatory School located at Ft. Monmouth, NJ, has an average student enrollment of 270 cadet-candidates. The school curriculum is designed to assist selected members of the Armed Forces to qualify academically, physically, and militarily for entrance into USMA. The 10-month curriculum concentrates on mathematics, English, and physical development. Most graduates of USMAPS will receive appointments to the USMA.

The Branch Immaterial Officer Candidate Course trains selected enlisted and warrant officer personnel to serve as commissioned officers in units of the Active and Reserve Components. With an average load of approximately 300, this 14-week course commissions officers in all of the OFMD accession specialties. Management of the program is accomplished by the US Army Training and Doctrine Command (TRADOC) through the Officer Candidate School located at Fort Benning, GA. Officer Candidate School (OCS) produces officers to support accession requirements not met by ROTC, USMA or direct commission programs. OCS provides an avenue for upward mobility and superior enlisted members, has the capability to quickly produce officers and rapidly expand to meet increased officer demands.

Provides funds necessary to complement the MCA program at USMA. Provides for the movement of academic disciplines from buildings before the renovation begins and into the facilities upon completion. Additionally, funds purchase of laboratory equipment necessary to outfit the renovated facilities to make them fully functional and to replace obsolete/worn out equipment in other cadet laboratories.

b. USMA Cadet Training Programs (Base: $2,615)$ 400
Provides funds for two programs: the Summer Augmentation Program and the Cadet Advanced Training Program. These programs provide critical training development and enhance individual leadership techniques that each cadet needs to graduate. Increases have resulted in these programs because of transportation and billeting costs albeit the programs have remained at current levels.

Provides funds for fundamental cadet support at USMA. Increases in Commercial Activities contracts represents Department of Labor wage determination revisions, employee fringe adjustments, and increases related to contractor-union negotiations. In a highly competitive market that is a recent phenomenon of the surrounding area, Department of Labor wage scale increases indicate that contract costs will continue to rise. Included in this issue are the barracks and classroom furnishings intended to replace current unrepairable items and to implement a life cycle management program. The furnishings program currently relies on migratory funding at year end to replace the furnishings in the worst condition.

I. Narrative Description

This activity group provides for the operation of the Army Senior Reserve Officers' Training Corps (ROTC) program. The objective of ROTC is to attract, motivate and prepare selected college students with potential to serve as commissioned officers in the Regular Army, Army National Guard or US Army Reserve. Management of the program is accomplished by the US Army ROTC Cadet Command (USAROTCCC), through four ROTC regional headquarters and 317 ROTC detachments, 102 extension centers and over 1260 cross-enrolled college campuses. The program consists of a two-year basic course or six-week basic camp, at Ft. Knox, KY and a two-year advanced course for students from over 1600 colleges throughout the United States and its territories. Normally between their junior and senior years, ROTC cadets attend an advanced camp where they receive military training under field conditions. After successful completion of the program, the cadets are commissioned as second lieutenants.

II. Description of Operations Financed

Funds provide for support of on-campus operations and training, scholarships for selected students, summer camp operations, and the operation of the four ROTC regional headquarters and Headquarters USAROTC. On-campus support requires funds for civilian pay and allowances; temporary duty (travel and per diem); and the purchase and transportation of organizational clothing and equipment, textbooks, reference publications, and supplies. Scholarship funds provide for tuition costs, academic texts and laboratory fees for the 12,000 students who are awarded or continued on scholarships each year. Summer camp funds provide for the temporary hire of civilian personnel and the temporary duty (travel and per diem) of Active Army cadre for the camps. ROTC Headquarters funds pay for civilian pay and allowances, TDY costs, and operating supplies and equipment.

B. Reconciliation of Increases and Decreases

Program Increases

ROTC Scholarships Program (Base: $ 59,400)$ 4,449
Program growth supports the increase in tuition, fees and books over and above the normal inflation. No additional scholarships above the 12,000 authorized are provided by this increase. It is projected the tuition for universities and colleges will grow by approximately eight percent which exceeds the OMB inflation rate by approximately four percent. Continued underfunding has resulted in the program being significantly under resourced in FY 1989. The increase will partially offset this deficit.

PROGRAM: TRAINING
ACTIVITY GROUP: SPECIALIZED TRAINING

I. Narrative Description

This activity group provides for the operation and support of the Army's training centers and schools that conduct specialized skill training. Specialized Training programs provide officer and enlisted personnel with the skills and knowledge needed to perform specific jobs. Many duty positions in the Army structure have been analyzed to determine the skills necessary to insure that the job is done properly and efficiently. Specialized Training imparts these required skills to the proper number of individuals annually so that each position vacancy in the structure can be filled promptly with a qualified replacement. This grouping also includes training at the Defense Information School and Defense Language Institute Foreign Language Center. Resident Specialized Training includes initial, progression and functional training for both officer and enlisted members. Army Specialized Training can be best described in the following five categories.

Initial Skill Training (Enlisted). This includes all formal training normally given immediately following Recruit Training and leading to the award of a military occupational specialty (MOS) at the lowest level. One Station Unit Training (OSUT) satisfies this purpose but, since it combines skill training with recruit training in a single course, it is treated separately in its own activity group.

Skill Progression Training (Enlisted). This category of training is received by enlisted members subsequent to initial skill training. Through this training the student gains the knowledge to perform at a higher skill level or in a supervisory position. This category includes training under the Non-commissioned Officer Education System at the mid and lower non-commissioned officer levels.

PROGRAM: TRAINING

I. Narrative Description (Continued)

Initial Skill Training (Officer). This training is oriented toward the specific type duty the newly commissioned officer will be performing at the first duty assignment. With minor exceptions, all newly commissioned officers attend officer basic courses at their branch schools. These courses are generally 16-19 weeks in length, including the expansion of Officer Basic Courses.

Skill Progression Training (Officer). In general, this training is aimed at officers with several years of practical experience and provides the knowledge needed to assume more advanced responsibilities. The advanced courses are structured to prepare the officer students for battalion and brigade staff duties in addition to command responsibilities at the company and battery level. Officer Skill Progression Training also includes on-going improvements in officer education and training to include the Combined Arms and Services Staff School.

Functional Training. This covers all other subject areas and cuts across the spectrum of military occupational specialties by providing additional required skills without changing the officer or enlisted member's primary MOS. Included in this category are airborne, ranger and special forces qualification courses.

II. Description of Operations Financed

Costs charged to this account include civilian pay and benefits, trainee support, resident instruction, local preparation of training aids and training literature, consumer procurement of supplies and equipment, and contractual service. Also included are temporary duty (travel and per diem) for staff and faculty trips, and organizational clothing and equipment issued for use during the training period.

These associated costs are a combination of fixed, semi-fixed and variable costs. Fixed costs related to items such as minimum level of staffing, equipment and communications will be incurred as long as these functions are performed. Semi-fixed costs within certain ranges are not directly influenced by changes in training loads. Changes above or below these ranges necessitate the addition or deletion of items such as personnel staffing, equipment and communications. Program increases include manpower issues, Equipping the Force, and qualitative improvements and expansion of NCO and officer courses. Variable costs in this account are determined by annual increases or decreases in training workload requirements. The FY 1989 resources support a training workload requirement of 60,031, a decrease of 297 over the FY 1988 requirement of 60,328. FY 1989 funding resources are based on a 95 per cent workload.

ACTIVITY GROUP: FLIGHT TRAINING

I. Narrative Description

This activity group provides for the operation and support of the Flight Training programs conducted at the US Army Aviation Center (USAAVNC), Ft. Rucker, Alabama. The courses included in the Army's Flight Training programs are categorized as either Undergraduate or other Flight Training. Undergraduate Helicopter Pilot Training qualifies both commissioned and warrant officer aviation students to perform duties and assume the responsibilities of Army pilots. Training through flying and use of flight simulators is augmented by flight-related ground training and officer development training to prepare the student for the responsibilities of a junior officer. Other Flight Training includes courses for instructor pilots, instrument flight examiner, gunnery and specific pilot qualification courses in various aircraft. Most Other Flight Training courses are of short duration, two to seven weeks.

PROGRAM: TRAINING
ACTIVITY GROUP: FLIGHT TRAINING

II. Description of Operations Financed

Costs charged to this activity group include student support, school preparation of training aids and training literature for resident and non-resident instruction, supplies and equipment, contractual services, civilian pay and allowances, maintenance of the aviation school libraries, and the training required to develop and maintain instructor proficiency. Also included are charges for temporary duty (travel and per diem) for staff, faculty and student trips in conjunction with the school curriculum; aircraft POL; and the operation of the aviation school airfields and airfield equipment.

Fixed, semi-fixed and variable costs are charged to this activity group. Fixed costs related to minimum staffing levels, equipment and communications support will be incurred as long as the USAAVNC remains in operation. Semi-fixed costs within certain predetermined ranges are not directly influenced by changes in instructor and support staffing, equipment and communication levels. The variable costs in this activity group are determined by annual increases and decreases in aviator training workload requirements. The FY 1989 resources support a training workload requirement of 1,865 an increase of 94 over the FY 1988 requirement of 1,771. FY 1989 funding resources are based on a 95 percent workload.

There are additional costs of training Army aviators and maintenance personnel on the new aircraft being introduced into the flight training program; e.g., CH 47D Chinook and AH-64 Apache.

ACTIVITY GROUP: TRAINING SUPPORT

I. Narrative Description

This activity group includes the categories of training resources that support individual training conducted at the Army's training centers and schools, and individual training conducted at Active and Reserve Component Units and the development of training materials used Army-wide. Also included in this activity group are the resources required to operate the Headquarters, US Army Training and Doctrine Command (TRADOC), the TRADOC Installation Training and Audio-Visual Support Centers, to support temporary duty (travel and per diem) for training, and to evaluate training effectiveness, and to provide training developments, audio visual support, and training support to MACOMS, Training Centers and Schools (TCS), and Defense activities.

II. Description of Operations Financed

Support of the Training Establishment. Training evaluation activities and student temporary duty (travel and per diem) costs for military personnel attending Army, DOD or schools of other services and nations, as well as civilian institutions.

Training Developments. The process of design, development, and validation of Army training materials. Army training development employs the System Approach to Training (SAT) methodology which involves needs analysis, detailed task analysis, the design of appropriate training strategies and techniques to address the identified requirements, development of appropriate instruction, validation, testing and feedback in order to verify the effectiveness of the training package, and finally, the implementation of a complete performance-oriented training program. This account supports all Army approved resident and nonresident training programs including Soldiers Manuals (SM), Extension Training Materials (ETM), Army Training and Evaluation Programs (ARTEP), Job Books, How-to-Fight Manuals, and other training manuals and circulars. The introduction of new weapon systems and equipment into the Army inventory, recent major changes in the Army's divisional structure, and the resultant changes in tactical employment concepts have increased the requirements placed upon the Army's training development community.

Program Increases

a. Base Operating Support (Base: $666,554).....$ 7,385

Funds provide for additional support for readiness and training by providing day-to-day maintenance of installation equipment and installation supply operations. Also provides for enhanced readiness and soldier morale by providing additional funding for replacement of deteriorated unaccompanied housing personnel furnishings and operations of Army food services. The fiscal year 1988 level of funding severely constricted or reduced funding for these activities causing delays in systematic replacement of furnishings and maintenance of installation equipment. Included in this increase are Standard Installation Organization realignments increasing military end strength by 8, civilian end strength by 51 and civilian work years by 189. Despite this funding increase, military personnel may have to be diverted from other activities to perform minimum essential base operations workload. Increased contractor support is anticipated.

b. Force Modernization (Base: $386).....$ 50

Funds initial base Operations Costs associated with the fielding of new and modernized equipment. (For details on specific systems, see "Intensively Managed Systems" section).

II. Description of Operations Financed: Funds provide Real Property Maintenance Activity support for 16 U.S. Army Training and Doctrine Command (TRADOC) installations plus the U.S. Army Military Academy (West Point) in the following areas:

A. Operation of Utilities: Finances procurement and distribution of utilities for the Army training base at a total of 17 installations/locations in the Continental United States (CONUS). Included are purchased utilities (i.e., heat, electricity, water and sewerage), operation of water plants and distribution systems, and sewage and waste systems.

B. Maintenance and Repair of Real Property: Finances maintenance and repair of buildings, structures, roads, railroads, grounds and utility systems at CONUS training installations. The FY 1989 request does not cover annual maintenance and repair requirements, and the BMAR will increase by $63.5 million. This increase in backlog will result in degradation to utilities systems, unaccompanied personnel housing, and operational facilities. Migration in the amount of $10.0 million has been considered in estimating the BMAR.

C. Minor Construction: Finances the erection, installation or assembly of a new real property facility, or the addition, expansion, alteration or conversion of an existing real property facility when project costs do not exceed $200 thousand.

D. Engineer Support: Finances other facilities engineering services for training installations, such as fire protection, custodial services, pest control, refuse collection and disposal, snow removal and ice alleviation. Includes Construction Support.

Program Increases

a. Engineer Training Relocation (Base: $2,015).....$ 349
Funds provide Real Property Maintenance Activities (RPMA) support for moving the Engineer School from Fort Belvoir to Fort Leonard Wood.

b. Force Modernization Fielding (Base: $684).....$ 441
Increase in Real Property Maintenance Activities (RPMA) funds to support the fielding of selected new or modernized equipment entering the active inventory in FY 1989. (see "Intensively Managed Systems" section).

c. Real Property Maintenance (RPM) (Base: $328,663).....$ 4,504
Real Property Maintenance funding has been reduced to levels far below the Annual Recurring Requirement (ARR) in recent years. This programmatic increase will partially close the gap but does not fully fund the ARR due to overall budget constraints. Consequently, there will be some deterioration of existing Army facilities with an associated degradation of living and working conditions at U.S. military installations. For example, many high priority projects to repair utilities systems, troop barracks, maintenance facilities, operational facilities, and more will, of necessity, be deferred. The Backlog of Maintenance and Repair (BMAR) will rise by $63.5 million in FY 1989.

B. Reconciliation of Increases/Decreases (Continued):

Program Decreases

- a. Utilities Savings - Energy Conservation (Base: $128,219).....$ -1,026
The Army has invested large sums in energy conservation devices and methods over the past several years. The Army energy plan projects a reduction in utilities consumption in its facilities of 40 percent by FY 2000 from the level experienced in FY 1975. The combination of investments in technology and emphasis on conservation has reduced consumption levels. This downward adjustment reflects these savings.

PROGRAM: MEDICAL PROGRAMS

I. Description of Operations Financed

This program provides health services in support of the United States Army. Major objectives of the program are to: maintain physically and mentally fit soldiers; assure timely availability of trained health manpower to deploy in support of Army combat, contingency and mobilization plans; provide hospitalization capabilities in the combat zone, the communications zone, and Continental United States for casualties evacuated from a combat zone; provide health services for dependents of soldiers, retired members and dependents, survivors of deceased soldiers, and other eligible beneficiaries both in the Army direct care system and through payments for the Army's portion of CHAMPUS; and provide a major incentive for soldiers and health professionals to select military service as a career.

Objectives are accomplished by operating a wide range of health programs and services. Involved are the sciences of preventive and curative medicine, dental, and veterinary services. These services are delivered through such activities as medical centers, Army community hospitals, and outpatient clinics. Supportive of the Direct Health Care System is the Medical Training Program. Graduate Medical Education programs based primarily in medical centers develop the needed specialists, foster professional excellence and attract health professionals to a military career. Care and treatment of eligible beneficiaries where and when available is a beneficial by-product of these training missions. The Academy of Health Sciences located at Fort Sam Houston, Texas provides systematic progressive education programs for Army Medical Department officers, enlisted personnel for both active and Reserve Components, and civilian employees in the field of health sciences. Other supportive activities to the Direct Care System include various medical laboratories and agencies, as well as programs such as medical and pre-accession drug and alcohol testing at the Military Entrance Processing Stations.

The mission funds requested for FY 1989 are $2,325.4 million, a net increase in FY 1989 of $19.6 million above the FY 1988 estimate. The request supports increased operating costs, and limited improvements in maintenance of quality patient care through the alleviation of some staffing shortfalls within the Army Medical Enhancement Program, and improved access to care.

Operation of Operations Financed primary health care function is delivered through the operation of 49 hospitals plus numerous series and health clinics. These facilities will support 2.2 million patient days of hospitalization, 21.2 million dental procedures. In addition, 1.02 million patient days of clinic visits, and 156.3 thousand clinic visits will be obtained from other sources, primarily from facilities operated by the Veterans Administration contractor operated facilities formerly under the auspices of the service, and CHAMPUS.

* USTF is budgeted for a full year in FY 1989. Public Law 97-99 reinstituted the former Public Health Service (PHS) facilities as sources of medical care for eligible beneficiaries in FY 1982. The authorizing law expires on 31 December 1988. If it is not extended, the patient workload will shift to CHAMPUS, which will correspondingly, require the additional USTF funds for the workload increase.

PROGRAM: MEDICAL PROGRAMS
ACTIVITY GROUP: EDUCATION AND TRAINING

I. Narrative Description (Statement of Requirements and Mission)

This program provides for the training of Army Medical Department (AMEDD) personnel through training programs in Army medical facilities, schools of other federal agencies, and in civilian institutions. These programs have as their objective the development of technically and professionally qualified officers, enlisted personnel, and civilians required to staff Army Medical Department units worldwide and provide trained health manpower to respond to wartime contingency requirements. The level of instruction which must be provided varies from the basic principle of emergency medical care to post-graduate training in professional medical specialties.

II. Description of Operations Financed

Resources provide for tuition and other education expenses (school supplies, microscope rental, text books, etc.) incurred by the participants in the Armed Forces Health Professions Scholarship Program. The Army is currently authorized 1240 students in the Health Professions Scholarship Program. Students are enrolled in the disciplines of Medicine, Psychology and Optometry as authorized by Public Law 92-246. Resources are provided for other Army scholarship and subsidy programs and the use of consultants in health facilities.

Students input into training program is based on authorized military strengths, anticipated accessions into the Army, past retention rates, and adjustments to compensate for attrition.

This program supports the operation and maintenance of information management systems for Army medical department, the deployment of DOD-directed systems, and operation and maintenance of existing hospital information systems. Decrease in FY 1989 results from reduced level of support provided for currently operational Tri-Service Management Information Systems to include the Automated Cardiac Catheterization Laboratory System at Tripler Army Medical Center, the Automated Inventory Distribution System, Food Service System and Medical Record Tracing System at Walter Reed Army Medical Center. The decrease also reflects slowed implementation of the DOD Composite Health Care Systems project in FY 1989. The decrease in this budget activity was partially offset by a net increase of 7 civilian personnel.

II. Description of Operations Financed: Funds requested will provide support in four functional areas of Real Property Maintenance Activities. These functional areas are:

A. Operation of Utilities - Finances procurement and distribution of utilities for three HSC installations. Included are purchased utilities (i.e., heat, electricity, water and sewerage), operation of water plants and distribution systems, and sewage and waste systems.

B. Maintenance and Repair of Real Property - Finances maintenance and repair of buildings, structures, roads, railroads, grounds and utility systems at HSC installations. The FY 1989 request does not cover annual maintenance and repair requirements, and the BMAR will increase by $10.9 million. This backlog will result in degradation to hospitals, utilities systems and operational facilities.

C. Minor Construction - Finances the erection, installation or assembly of a new facility, or the addition, expansion, alteration or conversion of an existing real property facility when project costs do not exceed $200 thousand.

D. Engineer Support - Finances other facilities engineering services such as fire protection, custodial services, pest control, refuse collection and disposal, snow removal and ice alleviation. Includes construction support.

Real Property Maintenance (RPM) (Base: $27,622).....$ -1,897

Real Property Maintenance funding continues to be reduced to levels far below the Annual Recurring Requirement (ARR) in recent years. Consequently, there will be some deterioration of existing Army facilities with an associated degradation of living and working conditions at U.S. military installations. For example, many high priority projects to repair utilities systems, troop barracks, maintenance facilities, operational facilities, and more will, of necessity, be deferred. The Backlog of Maintenance and Repair (BMAR) will still rise by $10.9 million in FY 1989.

2. Advertising: This program funds all active Army advertising programs designed to support the procurement and retention of Army enlisted and officer personnel. United States Military Academy advertising is directed at potential cadets through the printing of posters and pamphlets and the production of films. Reserve Officer Training Corps (ROTC) advertising is directed at potential ROTC cadets. Provides advertising support to the Chief of Chaplains office in the effort toward denominational balance. Funds provide local, regional and national advertising in support of rising enrollment demands.
3. Examining: Provides funds for the U.S. Military Entrance Processing Command which consists of a headquarters, three sector headquarters, 68 Military Entrance Processing Stations (MEPS) and two substations. The examining mission is to aptitudinally qualify and administratively process individuals for the Armed Services. The Armed Forces Vocational Aptitude Battery (ASVAB) is administered for both the production and student testing programs by MEPS and Office of Personnel Management (OPM) testers. The production tests are administered within the MEPS, contract facilities, and at about 900 Mobile Examining Team sites. The student tests are administered in high schools and other educational institutions. Funds also provide ADP capability for USMEPCOM and Selective Service System jointly operated computer system. USMEPCOM is a joint service organization for which the Army is the JOD Executive Agent and provides 50 percent of the military staff and the entire civilian staff. The other services contribute military personnel based on a pro-rata basis of total accession workloads.

B. Other Personnel Activities: Provides for disposition of remains; morale and welfare programs; religious leadership and self-development programs; confinement and rehabilitation of post trial military prisoners; specialized chaplain activities; centralized book procurement; operation of reception stations at Army Basic Training Centers to process incoming personnel; and other personnel related activities which support the Army mission.

C. Armed Forces Radio and Television Service (AFRTS): Resources provide for operation of 582 AFRTS studio and transmitter facilities overseas and management of 107 Mini-TV sites for service personnel at remote locations. Army AFRTS are located in Germany, Italy, Panama, Korea, Kwajalein Missile Range and Johnston Atoll.

D. Civilian Training, Education and Development (CTED) Program: Provides resources for the training, education and development of Army civilian employees in professional, scientific, administrative and technical career fields. The major components of the CTED are: (1) Intern Program; (2) Long-Term Training Program; (3) Executive and Managerial Development Program; and (4) Facility Engineering Apprenticeship Program. Included in these components are manpower spaces and fiscal resources necessary to cover: (a) salaries and related benefits, (tuition, books, fees, programmed instructional materials, and related expenses); (b) travel and per diem of students/participants while in or enroute to and from training, educational or developmental assignments (including interns and long-term training participants); and, (c) costs associated with the administration of the program. Interns are hired to meet critical staffing needs in mission related occupations unique to the Department of the Army and are trained to successfully perform at the journeyman level.

E. Junior Reserve Officer Training Corps (JROTC): Funding supports operation of 896 authorized JROTC units. This program is designed to foster good citizenship, patriotism, self-reliance, leadership, and appreciation of the role of the US Army in support of national objectives. Resources provide for partial pay of military instructors and for unit operating supplies and equipment.

F. Army Continuing Education System (ACES): Resources for the Army Continuing Education System provide active component soldiers with educational opportunities similar to those available to all Americans. These are provided through a world-wide network of Army Education Centers which provide on-duty instruction in those basic academic skills needed to enable soldiers to perform Army jobs successfully and to support retention and career development. Off-duty high school completion programs and collegiate programs are available worldwide and soldiers are supported financially through tuition assistance. Funds provide for 100 percent of tuition for high school completion, 75 percent to 90 percent for off-duty courses taken from accredited schools, operation of education centers which include counseling, testing and related administrative functions.

G. The Veterans Educational Assistance Program (VEAP): Funding is provided to support contractual obligations for educational incentive to enlistees as authorized by PL 94-502 and PL 96-342. Basic VEAP replaced the Vietnam Era GI Bill which terminated 31 December 1976. All service members, regardless of rank, who signed contracts 1 January 1977 through 30 June 1985, are eligible to participate in Basic VEAP. Service members' contributions are matched 2:1 by the Army. On 1 January 1979, the Army began testing the recruiting effects of offering additional "kickers" (up to $6,000) to high school diploma graduates in the upper test score categories. During FY 1981, an educational test program was implemented to measure effects of enhanced "kickers" (up to $12,000); a tuition-stipend program similar to the old GI Bill; and a non-contributory VEAP with "kickers" option. In FY 1982, the Army implemented the Ultra VEAP Program (Army College Fund) nationwide. This program mirrored the FY 1981 test cell and the maximum "kicker" was increased to $18,300 during FY 1985.

H. Base Operations: This Budget Activity provides for all direct costs associated with commercial real estate leases and General Services Administration (GSA) managed leases for the Department of Defense Recruiting Program and Military Entrance Processing Command (MEPCOM) beginning in FY 1988. This Budget Activity is created in order to comply with the Army's charge-back policy, which places funding and associated responsibilities with the user commands/agencies. The Corps of Engineers has been delegated responsibility for managing, acquiring and paying for space required by the DoD Recruiting Services, while MEPCOM will reimburse the Corps for space and services acquired by the Corps for MEPCOM.

I. Narrative Description (Statement of Requirements and Mission):

Provides funding to recruit sufficient manpower to sustain the Active Army and manage USAR recruiting. USAR recruiting support costs are provided in the OMAP Appropriation. This funding request is directly related to the Active Army recruiting requirement and to the size of the recruiting work force. Recruiting costs funded in this activity include meals, lodging and travel for applicants and recruiters; vehicles; supplies; professional development of recruiters; and all other incidental expenses necessary to support the Active Army recruiting force. The demand for high quality personnel has received a great amount of emphasis. This demand will continue for the foreseeable future. The Army's goals for FY 1989 are at least 90 percent high school graduates, 63 percent test category I-III, and no more than 10 percent test category IV accessions. Quality requirements in the rapidly diminishing market of eligibles has driven the necessity for innovative incentives and methods of attracting and accessing quality recruits with the particular qualifications needed to man sophisticated, modern systems. By placing a special emphasis on the high school graduate market, readily trained prospects, who are also more retainable, are recruited. This results in increased force readiness and decreased first-term attrition. The Army cannot afford to sacrifice quality for quantity in its recruiting strategy. Manning the force is the foremost issue in maintaining a combat-ready posture; our forces must be trained and alert for any contingency. Accordingly, recruiting resources are vital in attracting sufficient numbers of high caliber personnel to perform in critical skills.

Requested advertising funds finance the use of mass media advertising and publicity for persuasively communicating reasons for enlistment to young people and their adult influencers. Advertising overcomes the reluctance of many well qualified prospects to seriously consider Army service by high frequency repetition of salient information packaged in ways calculated to compel attention. Because of the seriousness of the enlistment decision, the strength of ingrained attitudinal barriers and the availability of competitive opportunities offered in the civilian job market, advertising must be funded at a level to achieve high frequency exposure on a continuous basis to individuals beginning in the mid-teens and extending through prime enlistment ages. The advertising must be directed to the best qualified prospects through the most effective use of media and by featuring the most appropriate benefits. The display of opportunities for personal growth through experience in challenging situations and offer of help in pursuing long range occupational goals through Army technical training and money for college provide the strongest motivation to our best prospects. By providing contact opportunities with interested prospects for recruiters and increasing applications for enrollments into the Army ROTC program and the United States Military Academy, advertising performs an essential task in accomplishing the accession mission.

The Army, as DOD Executive Agent, provides funding and civilian personnel resources for the operation of the United States Military Entrance Processing Command (USMEPCOM). This joint service command aptitudinally qualifies individuals for and administratively processes individuals into all of the armed services. During mobilization, the command processes persons called to active duty from the individual ready reserve as well as conscripts inducted via the Selective Service System (SSS). USMEPCOM is organized with a command headquarters, three sector headquarters, sixty-eight Military Entrance Processing Stations (MEPS) and two substations. One of the key functions is the administration of the Armed Forces Vocational Aptitude Battery (ASVAB) for the purpose of qualifying applicants for enlistment or induction (production testing) into the Armed Services and the testing of civilian school populations (student testing) for subsequent guidance counseling and prospect identification. These tests are conducted by MEPS personnel and Office of Personnel Management (OPM) test examiners. Test sessions are conducted in the MEPS, at over 900 Mobile Examining Team sites (such as armories and reserve centers) throughout CONUS, and in schools both in CONUS and OCONUS. Funds are also provided within this activity to support the ADP requirements of USMEPCOM and the SSS at their shared Joint Computer Center (JCC). This facility supports a network for automated information exchange among the MEPS/the headquarters elements of USMEPCOM and the SSS/subordinate headquarters. Because of this relationship, peacetime administration is enhanced while mobilization preparedness is maintained. The Army provides all funds and civilian staffing for MEPCOM operations along with approximately 49 percent of the military staffing. The other military components contribute military personnel on a pro-rata basis, based on workload.

Promotes service in Active and Reserve Components. Supports expansion of ROTC Programs on college campuses with special emphasis on attracting cadets within particular academic disciplines. This program is being increased to attract and retain more cadets. The ROTC program has not been meeting its production mission, and these resources are required to increase the media mix and media reach.
 3. USMA: Emphasizes benefits of quality education leading to the award of a college degree combined with opportunity to earn a commission as a second lieutenant.
- C. Examining: Provides funds for the support and operation of Headquarters, US Military Entrance Processing Command (USMEPCOM), three sector headquarters and 68 Military Entrance Processing Stations (MEPS) essential to process personnel entering the armed services; the direct administration of MEPS operations; operating the central test agency which administers the Armed Services Vocational Aptitude Battery (ASVAB) for both the production and student (High School) testing programs; and Mobile Examining Teams (MET) operating under MEPS direction. The Office of Personnel Management (OPM) examiners will continue to administer the ASVAB in urban and rural areas. Funds also provide ADP capability for USMEPCOM and Selective Service System.
1. MEPS Operations (excludes medical costs displayed in Program 8-M): Operate 68 Military Entrance Processing Stations responsible for the processing of applicants and registrants and the preparation of initial reports and records relating to enlistees and inductees. Includes costs of civilian salaries, supplies, equipment, administration, travel, per diem, civilian training, facilities and vehicle support.

PROGRAM: OTHER GENERAL PERSONNEL ACTIVITIES
ACTIVITY GROUP: ARMED FORCES RADIO AND TELEVISION SERVICE (AFRTS)

I. Narrative Description (Statement of Requirements and Mission):

This budget activity provides the resources necessary to support Armed Forces Radio and Television Service (AFRTS) operations outside the Continental United States. Functions performed include: (1) the production and presenting radio and television command information announcements, news, sports, public affairs and entertainment programming; and (2) operating, maintaining, and funding of radio/TV program production facilities and distribution systems.

II. Description of Operations Financed:

Provides for the manning, operation and maintenance of 582 AFRTS studio and transmitters and management of 107 mini-TV sites. This service includes presenting essential command information and emergency announcements, as well as news, sports, and entertainment television and radio programs for over 600,000 U.S. military and civilian personnel and their families stationed overseas. The operations financed includes U. S. civilian personnel salaries and benefits, local national personnel, TDY and PCS costs, rentals for new and wire services, mini-TV costs, leased communication costs (including satellites), organizational maintenance (including contract services), equipment, material, supplies, services (including contract services) and leased facilities and furnishings. These funds include operation of the Army portion of the DOD Satellite Network (SATNET) which provides "real-time" news, information and public affairs programming to AFRTS networks in Germany, Italy, Panama and South Korea, Kwajalein Missile Range, Honduras and Johnston Atoll. Commanders world-wide have identified SATNET as the single most important morale booster in their commands. Expansion of the SATNET system is planned for six isolated Army locations in Turkey has begun. Radio and television service now reaches areas where servicemembers have not previously enjoyed the benefits of AFRTS. In October 1986, the American Forces Network Europe (AFNE) began the transition from a microwave to a satellite distribution system. The AFNE radio and television signal will be transmitted to a satellite from a location near Frankfurt and downlinked to over 500 locations throughout Germany, Belgium and the Netherlands. The audience will be expanded to include mini-TV and remote sites not previously receiving the AFNE signal. During FY 1987, ABS initiated an alternative program service at the Southern Command Network (SCN) in Panama. This service provides additional news, sports, entertainment and information to U.S. forces in Panama, increase exposure to DOD/DA command information topics and improve the quality-of-life in the U.S. SOUTHCOM.

PROGRAM: OTHER GENERAL PERSONNEL ACTIVITIES
ACTIVITY GROUP: CIVILIAN TRAINING, EDUCATION AND DEVELOPMENT (CTED) PROGRAM

I. Narrative Description (Statement of Requirements and Mission):

Provides resources for the training, education and development of Army civilian employees in professional, scientific, administrative and technical career fields. The training is specifically designed to develop entry level interns into a cadre of future managers, to train new personnel to immediately assume key positions, to improve the executive and managerial capabilities of the current workforce and to develop apprentices for specialized facility engineering positions. The major components of the CTED program are: (1) Intern Program; (2) Long-Term Training and Development Program; (3) Executive and Managerial Development Program; and, (4) Facility Engineering Apprenticeship Program (FEAP). Funds provide for salaries, related benefits and supporting costs necessary to cover: (a) tuition, books, fees, programmed instructional materials and related expenses; (b) travel and per diem of student/participants while enroute or in training, educational, or developmental assignments including intern travel and per diem during intern training period; (c) transportation and/or storage of household goods for participants in long-term training, education, and/or developmental assignments which are in excess of 120 calendar days (including interns, apprentices and career program fellows); and (d) administrative costs associated with the administration and management of these programs. The CTED Program is essential to assure a "pipeline" of competent employees who are abreast of new developments in technology and who have full understanding of the current knowledge, skills, and abilities required to meet the Army's current and future civilian staffing needs at both the journeyworker and managerial levels.

II. Description of Operations Financed:

A. Intern Program: This program provides for salaries/benefits, travel and training of interns for placement into highly specialized occupations which are not available through normal labor market sources. Those selected for this highly competitive program are normally hired at the GS5/7 level. Interns undergo an intensive structured 2-year program comprising both on-the-job and formal classroom training at the end of which they will be fully prepared to perform successfully at the journeyworker level. Interns are required to sign a mobility agreement so they can be placed where Army's needs dictate.

II. Description of Operations Financed (Continued):

B. Long Term Training: This program provides for salaries/benefits, tuition and travel of carefully selected employees to receive training and development to assure knowledges and skills of employees in executive and managerial leadership positions within the Army; and to receive functional training essential to maintain currency with the state-of-the-art in engineering, science, and specialized technology skills. This training is provided at various military colleges and civilian colleges and universities, and developmental assignments in the public and private sectors.

C. Executive and Management Development Program: This program provides minimum support required for a variety of intensive short-term courses for new managers, high potential managers, and incumbent executives and managers who require updating in managerial skills and knowledge. The Executive and Management Development Program is critical in developing a cadre of highly qualified employees to fill vacancies in the executive/managerial ranks that are created by retirements, transfers, and deaths.

D. Facility Engineering Apprenticeship Program (FEAP): This program provides for salaries/benefits, travel and training of apprentices for specialized wage grade facility engineer positions. Individuals selected for this program are progressively promoted as they acquire the requisite knowledge and skills for the area to which they are assigned.

E. Administration: Provides salaries/benefits for civilians and necessary supplies and equipment to manage the programs described above.

Program Increases

a. Civilian Career Intern Program (Base $ 78,766).....$ 1,728

This increase will partial restore needed training for 1,728 interns ($1,728 x $1,000). Although these resources are not representative of the FY 1987 training level, they do provide additional training to assure progression of the current Interns to the journeyman level and they provide an incentive for new interns who are vitally needed to replace the aging workforce.

b. Civilian Long-Term Training Program (Base $ 10,568).....$ 1,229

This increase allows 20 new long term training starts. It will provide academic, technical and professional training that is necessary to maintain Army's participation in senior service schools and other quota academic programs. This program provides training for the future civilian leaders of the Army.

* Each school which hosts a JROTC unit is authorized a minimum of one retired commissioned officer and one retired NCO. One additional NCO is authorized for a unit per each 100 additional enrolled JROTC students starting with 200 students, i.e., a school with 400 enrolled JROTC students is authorized 1 officer and 4 NCOs. The host school must pay at least the difference between the instructor's retired pay and the pay and allowances (less special and hazardous duty pay) the instructor would receive if ordered to active duty at that location. The Army then reimburses the school half the difference between the retired and active duty pay. Only retirees who are certified to be JROTC instructors by the Army ROTC Cadet Command may be hired by a host school. Certified instructors are hired and sign a personal contract with the school concerned, not with the Army.

PROGRAM: OTHER GENERAL PERSONNEL ACTIVITIES
ACTIVITY GROUP: ARMY CONTINUING EDUCATION SYSTEM (ACES)

I. Narrative Description (Statement of Requirements and Mission):

ACES programs further Army readiness, retention and morale by improving individual professionalism and military skill proficiency. This program also provides the resources necessary to enable soldiers to fulfill their aspirations for educational growth through on-duty remedial and off-duty voluntary programs. ACES strives for closer coordination/integration with federal and state educational systems and with programs of the Veterans Administration. ACES is integrated primarily with recruiting, retention and training but supports all other aspects of Army personnel management. Advertised educational opportunities attract quality Army personnel and supplement individual enhancement programs, thereby improving professionalism and contributing to the Army readiness goal. ACES programs also improve the soldiers' quality of life in support of the Army human goal.

II. Descriptions of Operations Financed:

A. Secondary Education Program: Secondary programs include Basic Skills Education, Career Soldier Education, English as Second Language and the High School Completion Program. The Basic Skills Education Program (BSEP) is delivered in two phases. BSEP I is the commander's remedial program provided in the training base for soldier trainees who need basic competencies necessary to complete Advanced Individual Training successfully. BSEP II provides soldiers in grades E1 through E5 job-related academic competencies necessary for proficiency in military duties. The Career Soldier Education Program (CSEP) is designed for more senior enlisted personnel and is also delivered in two phases. CSEP I is the commander's education program for those personnel scheduled to attend courses in the Army's Noncommissioned Officer Education System but found to have academic deficiencies which would preclude them from successfully completing the course of instruction. CSEP II is the commander's program for NCO's who show specific educational deficiencies which prevent them from being qualified to successfully continue their military careers. English as Second Language provides off-duty hours instruction to enable soldiers to earn a high school diploma or pass state high school equivalency examinations. The High School Completion Program is fully funded and no cost to the soldier. FY 1988 projections indicate that there remain more than 25,000 non-high school graduates Army-wide. Costs associated with secondary education programs include instructional costs, workyear costs associated with testing, counseling and administration, costs of supplies and equipment and costs of ADP support including computer based or computer managed instruction.

II. Description of Operations Financed: (Continued)

B. Postsecondary Education Programs: These include all collegiate-level programs. They include associate, baccalaureate and graduate study conducted off-duty both on and off Army installations. These are supported by tuition assistance (TA) of either 75 or 90 percent. The Army's tuition assistance provides financial assistance to soldiers, aiding career and professional development and achievement of individual educational objectives and skill development. Through tuition assistance, Army attracts enlistees and ensures that recruiting promises are honored Army-wide. In-service TA is reflected as a line item in the Total Military Compensation Presentation prepared annually at Congress' direction and provided to all soldiers. Costs associated with postsecondary education programs include not only tuition assistance but also workyear costs associated with testing, counseling and administration of the programs, supplies and equipment necessary for program operation and ADP support including computer based instruction. This category also includes tuition reimbursement for independent study (correspondence) courses taken by soldiers through the Defense Activity for Non-traditional Education Support (DANTES).

C. Management: This category provides funding for management of the Army Continuing Education System. There are presently 386 Education Centers staffed with 1,208 full time personnel. Management costs include supervisory salaries, supplies and equipment not associated with education program operation and costs for travel and professional development and PCS of staff.

D. Army Learning Centers: An Army Learning Center (ALC) is a facility dedicated as a delivery point for individualized or small group multi-media instruction. This category integrates existing Learning Center functions which have separately furnished services to support military training, education opportunities or civilian employee training and development. This Army initiative provides commanders the training and educational support resources to meet validated training development and educational needs. It also provides a standardized managerial method for operations and fiscal control.

ACTIVITY GROUP: VETERANS EDUCATIONAL ASSISTANCE PROGRAM (VEAP)

I. Narrative Description (Statement of Requirements and Mission):

The Veterans Educational Assistance Program (VEAP) as authorized by PL 94-502 and PL 96-342 provides funds to support contract obligations for educational incentives from 1 January 1977 through 30 June 1985. Basic VEAP replaced the Vietnam Era GI Bill which terminated 31 December 1976. All service members, regardless of rank, who signed contracts 1 January 1977 through 30 June 1985 are eligible to participate in Basic VEAP. Service members contributions are matched 2:1 by the Army. On 1 January 1979, the Army began testing the recruiting effects of offering additional "kickers" (up to $6,000) to high school diploma graduates in the upper test score categories. During FY 1981, an educational test program was implemented to measure effects of enhanced "kickers" (up to $12,000); a tuition-stipend program similar to the old GI Bill; and a non-contributory VEAP with "kickers" option. In FY 1982, the Army implemented the Ultra VEAP Program (Army College Fund) nationwide. This program mirrored the FY 1981 test cell and the maximum "kick" was increased to $18,300 during FY 1983. Effective 1 July 1986, because of the new All Volunteer Educational Assistance Program (AV EAP), no new enrollments are authorized in this program. Funding requirements will continue to grow as prior year cohorts leave the Army and draw benefits.

II. Description of Operations Financed:

Veterans Educational Assistance Program: The Army is obligated by Law (PL 94-502) to match Service members' contributions 2:1 (up to $5,400 per person). Multiple cohorts from January 1977 through 30 June 1985 are included in programmed resources.

- a. The Army is also contractually obligated to contribute additional educational benefits (VEAP "Kickers") to qualified individuals who enlisted from January 1979 to 1 October 1981. Amounts vary from $2,000 to $12,000 depending on year and geographical location of Military Entrance Processing Station through which individual processed.
- b. Under the Army College Fund the Army is also contractually obligated to contribute up to $18,300 for individuals signing contracts during FY 1982 through 30 June 1985. A two-year enlistee may receive up to $8,000 and a four-year enlistee may receive up to $18,300. Total benefits that may be used are the 2:1 matching contribution, the Army College Fund kickers and the soldier's contribution.

Loan repayment was suspended in FY 1982 and reinstated in FY 1983.

 VEAP funding is required to cover "must-pay" contractual obligations on the part of the Army, offered as an incentive to enlist from 1 January 1977 until 30 June 1985. The first major impact on the use of these funds was felt in FY 1985 with corresponding growth in FY 1986 and FY 1987. Funding is required for multiple accession cohorts who are eligible to separate and use educational benefits which include "kickers" ($2,000 to $18,300). Approximately eight percent of the VEAP eligibles will use their benefits while in service.

Narrative Description: This Budget Activity provides for all direct costs associated with commercial real estate leases and General Services Administration (GSA) managed leases for the Department of Defense Recruiting Program and Military Entrance Processing Command (MEPCOM) beginning in FY 1988. This Budget Activity is created in order to comply with the Army's charge-back policy, which places funding and associated responsibilities with the user commands/agencies. The Corps of Engineers has been delegated responsibility for managing, acquiring and paying for space required by the DOD Recruiting Services, while MEPCOM will reimburse the Corps for space and services acquired by the Corps for MEPCOM. The FY 1989 request totals $111.1 million.

PROGRAM: ADMINISTRATION AND ASSOCIATED ACTIVITIES

I. Description of Operations Financed:

The Administration and Associated Activities Program finances the Department of the Army Headquarters, Personnel Administration, Public Affairs, Criminal Investigation, Audiovisual Support, and a variety of world-wide support activities. Several functions and activities are funded in this program because the efforts benefit Department of Defense (DOD) or the Army as a whole, or are better managed through consolidation in one area. This program is the Army's administrative management account which covers a wide range of activities necessary to effectively manage military and civilian personnel, logistics, financial resources, and various fiscal functions required by Public Law or DOD direction.

A. Mission Activities:

Approximately 50% of the funds requested for the mission budget activity groups are required to pay personnel or to support regulatory or statutory activities. Some of the Army's obligations under Public Law include payments to the Federal Employee Disability Compensation Fund for civilian employee injury and death benefit costs; the US Postal Service for US Army official mail; the State Department for the US Army's portion of the foreign affairs administrative support costs, Overseas Ranking, and for payment of non-contractual claims against the Department of the Army. Some of the organizations and the regulatory/statutory services for which funds are being requested are:

1. The Armed Forces Courier Stations which provide secure and expeditious handling of classified material;
2. The Institute of Heraldry which provides official seals and other distinctive insignia for the US Government;
3. The DOD Wage Fixing Authority which executes authorized wage fixing policy for DOD;
4. The Per Diem Travel and Transportation-Allowance Committee which prescribes uniform regulations for travel and transportation allowances for uniformed and civilian personnel of DOD;

I. Description of Operations Financed (Continued):

5. The Armed Services Board of Contract Appeals which administers contractual disputes in accordance with the disputes clause in all DOD procurement contracts;
6. The DOD Explosives Safety Board which provides impartial and objective advice on ammunition and explosives;
7. The US Army Nuclear Agency which supervises the nuclear and chemical surety program;
8. The US Army Claims Service Agency which ensures settlement of claims for personal property; and payments for non-contractual claims.
9. Defense Supply Service which provides contract procurement services for headquarters elements of the Army and other headquarters elements of the Department of Defense;
10. Personnel and Employment Service which provides civilian personnel support functions for Department of the Army agencies and those joint DOD agencies assigned to the Secretary of the Army for administration and support.

B. Base Operations:

1. Base Operations funding provides for operation and maintenance of installation type support, less real property maintenance activities, for the Military District of Washington (MDW). In FY 1988 this budget activity also provides operation and maintenance support for the Army Research Office, Triangle Park, NC, and the Construction Engineering Research Laboratory, Champaign, IL. In FY 1989, these activities are properly realigned to the Central Supply and Maintenance Activity group. Beginning in FY 1989, this activity group includes Fort Belvoir, VA, which is realigned from the Training Activity group. Base Operations includes headquarters administration, supply operations, equipment maintenance, unaccompanied personnel housing administration and furnishings, morale support activities, personnel support, and other base services.

It also includes real estate leases for space furnished by the General Services Administration outside the National Capitol Region (NCR) managed by the Corps of Engineers, and GSA leased space in the NCR managed by the Office of the Secretary of the Army.

2. The Real Property Maintenance Activity (RPMA) portion of Base Operations provides engineering support for MDW. Beginning in FY 1989, this activity group includes Fort Belvoir, VA, which is realigned from the Training Activity group. RPMA includes utilities, maintenance and repair of real property, minor construction, and other engineering support such as fire protection, custodial services, pest control refuse collection and disposal, and master planning.

I. Narrative Description: This budget activity provides Real Property Maintenance Activities (RPMA) support for the Military District of Washington (MDW). Beginning in FY 1989, this activity group includes Fort Belvoir, VA, which is realigned from the Training and Education Activity group. RPMA includes utilities, maintenance and repair of real property, minor construction, and engineer support such as fire protection, custodial services, pest control, refuse collection and disposal, and master planning. The FY 1989 request totals $69.5 million. Major areas of program change in this request are as follows:

Real Property Maintenance	140

PROGRAM: ADMINISTRATION AND ASSOCIATED ACTIVITIES

II. Description of Operations Financed: Funds requested will provide support in four functional areas of Real Property Maintenance Activities. These functional areas are:

A. Operation of Utilities - Finances procurement and distribution of utilities for MDW. Included are purchased utilities (i.e., heat, electricity, water and sewerage), operation of water plants and distribution systems, and sewage and waste systems.

B. Maintenance and Repair of Real Property - Finances maintenance and repair of buildings, structures, roads, grounds and utility systems for MDW. The FY 89 request does not cover Annual Maintenance and Repair Requirements, and Backlog of Maintenance and Repair (BMAR) will increase by $7.3 million. This increase will result in degradation to utilities systems, unaccompanied personnel housing and operational facilities.

C. Minor Construction - Finances the erection, installation or assembly of a new real property facility, or the addition, expansion, alteration or conversion of an existing real property facility when project costs do not exceed $200 thousand.

D. Engineer Support - Finances other facilities engineering services such as fire protection, custodial services, pest control, refuse collection and disposal, snow removal and ice alleviation. Includes construction support.

Program Increases

a. Real Property Maintenance (RPM) (Base: $18,515).....$ 140

Real Property Maintenance funding has been reduced to levels far below the Annual Recurring Requirement (ARR) in recent years. This programmatic increase will partially close the gap but does not fully fund the ARR due to overall budget constraints. Consequently, there will be some deterioration of existing Army facilities with an associated degradation of living and working conditions at U.S. military installations. For example, many high priority projects to repair utilities systems, troop barracks, maintenance facilities, operational facilities, and more will, of necessity, be deferred. The Backlog of Maintenance and Repair (BMAR) will still rise by $7.3 million in FY 1989.

I. Narrative Description

This activity group, International Military Headquarters and Agencies, includes resources which permit the payment of US financial contributions to International Military Organizations and provides support for US personnel assigned to positions in international military headquarters. Personnel and funds are provided to meet estimated US obligations to the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO), and the Combined Forces Command (CFC) Korea.

DEPARTMENT OF THE ARMY
JUSTIFICATION OF AMENDED ESTIMATES FOR FY 1988/1989
OPERATION AND MAINTENANCE, ARMY

PROGRAM: SUPPORT TO OTHER NATIONS

ACTIVITY GROUP: INTERNATIONAL MILITARY HEADQUARTERS AND AGENCIES

II. Description of Operations Financed

Financial Contribution to NATO. The Army has been designated as the DoD Executive Agent for payment of various US financial contributions to NATO. Those included in this program package are the US share of the NATO Military Budget, the US share of the NATO Airborne Early Warning and Control System (AEW&CS) operating and support costs, the US share of the Central European Operating Agency Budget, and LIVE OAK which is a classified NATO project.

The NATO Military Budget includes funds necessary to finance day-to-day operational costs of the NATO International Military Staff and subordinate NATO Military Commands and Agencies. Each command and agency submits its annual budget to the NATO Military Budget Committee for review and approval. The Military Budget Committee will use membership including representatives from all member nations screens, adjusts if necessary, and recommends an approved operating budget to the North Atlantic Council/Defense Planning Committee (NAC/DPC) for ambassador level approval. Upon NAC/DPC approval of the budget, member nations are assessed contributions based on agreed cost sharing formulas.

Activities covered by the Military Budget are financed in terms of either fourteen or fifteen nation participation. This is due to nonparticipation by France in many of the military projects of NATO. The US contribution is 25% for fifteen nation projects and 30.16% for fourteen nation projects. Each nation's percentage is fixed and therefore the annual US requirement is a function of the total NATO cost of its military commands and agencies plus the impact of inflation and currency fluctuations.

Member nation contributions are requested three times annually during the NATO budget year through a process known as a "Call-Up of Funds." These calls are made in terms of the NATO Accounting Unit (NAU), a budgetary device which adjusts national currency fluctuations in terms of the Belgian Franc, the currency used for NATO budgeting processes.

II. Description of Operations Financed (Continued)

Due to the extensive Military Budget Committee screening process and the NATO fiscal year running concurrent with the calendar year, the FY 1989 NATO budget will not be finalized until late in calendar year 1988. Therefore, the requirement for the 1989 US contribution is developed based on the latest Long Range Financial Forecast (March 1987).

NATO Airborne Early Warning and Control System (AEW&CS). Prior to FY 1985, the NATO AEW&CS program's primary focus was acquisition. The execution agent for the acquisition phase of the NATO AEW&CS program is the US Air Force. Beginning in FY 1985, funding and budgeting responsibility for operating and support costs for the NATO AEW&CS program was transferred from the Air Force to the Army. Costs include: operation and maintenance of aircraft, facility maintenance, program administration, communication, and the Force Commander's Headquarters Operations. Activities covered by the NATO AEW&CS system are financed in terms of either twelve or thirteen nations participation. The United Kingdom, which also provides in-kind mission support, participates in the NATO AEW&CS program only in the funding of the Force Commander's Headquarters. The US contribution is 32.6% for thirteen nation expenditures and 41.5% for twelve nation expenditures.

Central European Operating Agency (CEOA) Contribution. As the DOD appointed Executive Agency for NATO contributions, the Army is also responsible for the annual CEOA contribution. CEOA is the central coordinating and controlling body of the Central European Pipeline System (CEPS) and serves as the fiscal agency for the pipeline. Based on a standing cost-sharing agreement among the eight member nations, expenses for maintenance and operation of the system over and above revenues collected for movement and storage of fuels are funded by the member nations.

LIVE OAK is a classified international project to which the US contributes annually based on a set costing sharing formula.

International Military Headquarters (IMH) Support (NATO). IMH funds provide support of US elements of the NATO International Military Headquarters and subordinate commands. There are over twenty US elements and activities located throughout the NATO geographical area. Due to US law, the US pays civilian salaries of US personnel who are employed as NATO employees. Credit is received for these salaries as an offset to the NATO Military Budget contribution. Travel costs associated with NATO missions are funded in the NATO Military Budget, but US personnel receive the US per diem rates. Additionally, travel for US missions (annual physicals, US military training, military justice, etc.) are funded within this category.

US Support to United Nations Command/Combined Forces Command (UNC/CFC) Korea. Funds within this activity provide support for Armistice Activities as set forth in the Armistice Agreement of July 27, 1953; Administrative and logistical support for US personnel assigned to the UNC/CFC Korea; and US participation in UNC/CFC activities.

I. Narrative Description

The resources provided in this activity group satisfy the Army's responsibility for administrative and logistical support of Non-Military Assistance Program (MAP) activities performed by Military Assistance Advisory Groups (MAAGs), Missions and Military Groups; US participation on international military boards and commissions; US participation in the United States Truce Supervision Organization (UNTSO); Army to Army cooperation program, other personnel exchange programs, technology transfer functions, and DoD directed missions in support of other nations when US national security interests are affected.

II. Description of Operations Financed

Non-Military Assistance Program (MAP) support of Military Assistance Advisory Groups (MAAGs), Missions and Military Groups (Europe) funds are required to support Army to Army cooperation with allied and friendly nations in Europe as well as support of US Army personnel assigned to and non-security assistance functions performed by MAAGs in Spain and Turkey. Primary cost areas include travel for non-MAP activities, travel, salaries, and a percentage share of contract expenses for administrative expenses of Joint United States Military Mission for Aid Turkey (JUSMMAT).

Resources to support Latin American Cooperation activities as authorized by 10 USC 1050. Included are programs for officer and student visits and exchanges; translation and printing of documents to include publication of the Latin American editions of the Military Review; joint US-Mexican defense activities; participation in the Inter-American Defense Board and College and other Army to Army cooperation projects aimed at improvement of relations with Latin American Armies. Cost areas include: travel and per diem, civilian salaries; printing and reproduction; and contributions to Latin American international military organizations.

United Nations Truce Supervision Organization (UNTSO). Funds for supplies and equipment and travel by US personnel assigned to or responsible for UNTSO.

Pacific Armies Cooperation Programs. Initiatives developed to improve cooperation and exchanges between US Army and Pacific Armies aimed at expanding US interest with Pacific nations to include Australia, New Zealand, Japan and other allied/friendly nations. Expenses are largely for supplies and travel.

Personnel Exchange Program (PEP). The Personnel Exchange Program provides for an exchange of personnel with armies of other countries. Personnel participating in this program are assigned to authorized positions in US organizations with duty stations in a foreign Army. Each position has a reciprocal position within the other Army. The exchanges permit not only a sharing of experience, professional knowledge and doctrine/training of respective armies, but also permit the development of continuing military relationships with present and potential foreign leaders. Expenses are largely for supplies and travel.

Technology Transfer Functions. Provides necessary resources to Army agencies involved in the international programs arena pertaining to provision and/or restriction of state-of-the-art technologies to foreign governments. Specific programs include development of technology assessments and foreign disclosure plans pertaining to major Army weapons and battlefield support systems; review and evaluation of requests for munitions cases from foreign governments; analysis of allied strategic trade cases pertaining to release of critical technology and classified military information; negotiation of technical exchange projects, data exchange agreements. Science and technology sharing agreements as well as Army Rationalization, Standardization, and Interoperability (RSI) initiatives that involve release of sensitive or classified military information to foreign governments. Additionally, resources provide funding for Army participation in international and joint US evaluation activities such as technology sharing steering committees and critical technologies review working groups.

Other DoD Directive Missions. Provides funds for travel in conjunction with Army missions directed by DoD, usually on a short notice and highly classified. These missions are directed by the highest levels of government and done in response to situations which affect US national security interests. Also included is funding for humanitarian and civic assistance. The authority for the Department of Defense to provide humanitarian and civic assistance is contained in Title 10 US Code, Sections 403(a)(b).

No direct funds are associated with this activity group. Personnel accounted for in this group perform duties associated with the Security Assistance program, i.e., Foreign Military Sales (FMS) or Military Assistance Program (MAP) and the Army is reimbursed for their salaries. Assignment of personnel and the duties they perform are directed and controlled in the Office of the Secretary of Defense.

II. Description of Operations Financed

Personnel in this aggregation are engaged in foreign military sales activities or assigned to military assistance groups, military missions or military groups worldwide. The difference in end strength and workyears shown for military and civilian personnel in this activity group results from FMS cases in which workyears are reported but end strength is not required as cases are manned by personnel on temporary duty.

PROGRAM: SPECIAL OPERATIONS FORCES

I. Description of Operations Financed

The Operation and Maintenance, Army program for Special Operations Forces provides resources to support Special Operations Forces. These forces are sized, structured, equipped, trained, and supported to conduct special operations and to meet national and theater requirements in peace, crisis, and war, across the entire conflict spectrum. The dedicated Army Special Operations Forces include Special Forces, Psychological Operations units, Civil Affairs units, Ranger and Special Operations Aviation.

This program includes resources to operate, maintain and support all activities of the organizations and agencies comprising the Special Operations Forces. It includes directly identifiable mission and support costs; resources required for new or improved capabilities and force structure expansion; operation and maintenance, personnel and equipment required for special operations schools and doctrinal development activities; activities associated with demonstrating technology for application to special operations requirements; and operation, maintenance and personnel resourcing of the service component command headquarters activities.

In FY 1989, the program provides force structure changes including conversion of active component Table of Equipment to Army of Excellence designs; activation of the Special Operations Aviation Battalion Headquarters and Headquarters Company; activation of a Special Operations Aviation Company; activation of two active component Chemical Reconnaissance Detachments; and augmentation of the Special Warfare Center staffing.

A classified annex provides detailed justification for the Special Operations Forces. It is submitted annually to the appropriate congressional committees.

HOW INDUSTRIAL FUNDS OPERATE

Industrial funds operate under the provisions of Section 2208, Title 10 U.S.C. These provisions authorize the Secretary of Defense to establish working capital funds for industrial-type and commercial-type activities providing common services within the Department of Defense. Each industrial fund activity has a charter defining the scope of operations to be performed at that activity. These charters are required to be approved by the Assistant Secretary of Defense (Comptroller) prior to the commencement of operations.

The Department currently has five industrial funds - Army, Navy, Marine Corps, Air Force and Defense. Each industrial fund is administered and managed by their respective Service or Defense Agency. Within each industrial fund, individual activities which perform similar functions are organized into activity groups. A management agency or command is designated to provide general direction and exercise oversight responsibilities for those activities within the group. Authority to incur costs, however, is vested with managers at each activity.

The Department's industrial fund activities are anticipated to receive customer orders totaling approximately $23.4 billion in both FY 1988 and FY 1989. Approximately 98% of these orders are anticipated to come from Department of Defense activities. Other federal, state and local government agencies, as well as other parties, may purchase goods or services where appropriate and authorized by law. Functions performed by the Department's industrial fund activities include depot maintenance (ship, aircraft, combat vehicle, and other depot maintenance efforts); transportation services (airlift, sealift and traffic management); base services (real property maintenance, data services, printing and publications, communications, and other services); as well as other functions.

Army's industrial fund activities are anticipated to receive customer orders totaling approximately $3.0 billion in FY 1988 and $2.7 billion in FY 1989.

Industrial fund activities receive their initial working capital through an appropriation or a transfer of resources from existing appropriations of funds. Industrial fund activities use these resources to initially finance the costs of goods and services provided to their customers. Subsequently, the industrial fund activities are reimbursed by their customers for the goods or services provided. Workload at industrial fund activities is generated by customer order (requests for goods or services). Customer orders constitute obligations of the ordering activity, and create a contractual (buyer-seller) relationship between the industrial fund activity and the customer.

Customer rates are established on a fiscal year basis. These rates are established at levels intended to recover costs plus applicable surcharges, if any, necessary to provide working capital to ensure continued operation of the fund. Once established, rates are stabilized (held constant) for the applicable fiscal year. This "stabilized rate" policy serves to protect appropriated fund customers from unforeseen inflationary pressures as well as other cost uncertainties. In turn, this policy, also reduces disruptive fluctuations in planned industrial fund workload levels and thereby permits more effective utilization of industrial fund resources.

Industrial funds operate on a break-even basis over the long term. Profits, when they occur, are disseminated through transfers. Similarly, losses are recouped through the collection of a payment (called a passthrough) equal to such losses. Transferring prior years' profits or collecting prior years' losses outside of the industrial fund rate structure permits rates to more nearly reflect anticipated costs and avoids distortions which might otherwise occur.

Estimated workloads, costs, manpower requirements, and customer rates for industrial fund activities are initially developed by local managers at each industrial fund activity. These estimates are reviewed and consolidated by the management agency or command responsible for the direction and oversight of the activity group. These consolidated estimates are then reviewed by the respective Service and the Office of the Secretary of Defense prior to submission of the Congress.

Congressional oversight of industrial funds is exercised both directly and indirectly. The Congressional authorization and appropriation process permits the Congress to adjust the resource levels and programs of industrial fund customers. It also provides the Congress an opportunity to direct transfers or passthroughs between appropriated funds and applicable industrial fund activities. The Congress may also exercise oversight control by placing ceilings or limits on certain resources or types of expenses, or through the establishment or prohibition of policies or practices. These latter actions should be carefully considered so as not to unduly conflict with the desired business-like approach or to reduce the flexibility of industrial fund managers to respond to changes in workload, technology, or other market-related conditions.

The operation of activities under the industrial fund concept promotes a business-like approach to accomplishing certain complex and necessary Defense efforts. Cost accounting systems offer an effective means for identifying specific costs and thereby enhancing the capabilities of industrial fund managers and their customers to make more cost-effective decisions. Operations under the industrial fund concept results in a flexible system maximizing the use of financial, manpower, and other resources required to efficiently respond to fluctuations in workload. The operation of industrial fund activities also permits consuming activities (customers) to budget for end products or services required rather than the component parts or efforts necessary to achieve those end products or services.

APPROVED FY 1989 ARMY INDUSTRIAL FUND RATE CHANGES
(Change is From Approved FY 1988 Rate)

DoD policy provides for industrial fund rates to be established at estimated cost plus surcharge for the Asset Capitalization Program. Establishing rates which approximate costs aids individual programs managers (customers) in making cost effective program decisions. Such decisions may involve selecting among alternative goods or services, selecting from competitive sources that provide similar goods or services, or selecting whether to purchase a new item or to repair an existing one.

Customer rates are established for each fiscal year. Once established, these rates are stabilized (held constant) for the entire applicable fiscal year. This "stabilized rate" policy serves to protect appropriated fund customers from unforeseen inflationary increases as well as other cost uncertainties. This policy better assures customers that they will not have to make program adjustments in order to pay for potentially higher than anticipated prices. In turn, this policy also reduces disruptive fluctuations in planned industrial fund workload levels and thereby permits more effective utilization of industrial fund resources.

Approved FY 1989 rates changes are:

	Percent Change FY 1989
Armament Command	+3.6
Depot Command:
Depot Operations	+2.8
Other Operations	+7.3
Military Traffic Management Command	+7.9
Missile Command	*

* This activity will operate on a cost reimbursable basis in FY 1989. Customers will be charged actual costs rather than a stabilized rate. The change between amounts charged in FY 1988 and those to be charged in FY 1989 is estimated to be -13.7%.

Army Industrial Fund
Summary of Operations

Industrial Fund Activity Group Operations: The Army Industrial Fund is divided into four activity groups: the Armament, Munitions, and Chemical Activity Group, the Depot System Command, the Civilian Command, and the Military Production Activity Group.

Armament, Munitions, and Chemical Activity Group: This group is responsible for the production and distribution of armaments, munitions, and chemical warfare agents. It is the largest of the four activity groups and accounts for approximately 60 percent of the total Industrial Fund activity.

Depot System Command: This group is responsible for the production and distribution of depot system equipment, including vehicles, trucks, and other ground transportation equipment. It accounts for approximately 20 percent of the total Industrial Fund activity.

Civilian Command: This group is responsible for the production and distribution of civilian equipment, including medical supplies, food, and other supplies. It accounts for approximately 10 percent of the total Industrial Fund activity.

Military Production Activity Group: This group is responsible for the production and distribution of military equipment, including weapons, armor, and other military equipment. It accounts for approximately 10 percent of the total Industrial Fund activity.

The Industrial Fund is a self-sustaining organization that generates revenue through the sale of its products and services. It is a major source of funds for the Department of the Army and is an important part of the Army's industrial base.

In FY 1989, the Department of the Army's Industrial Fund continued to show a strong performance. Total activity and revenue were up from the previous year. The Armament, Munitions, and Chemical Activity Group continued to be the largest and most profitable activity group. The Depot System Command also showed strong growth. The Civilian Command and the Military Production Activity Group also showed steady growth. The Industrial Fund's revenue was used to fund a variety of programs, including the acquisition of new equipment, the development of new products, and the improvement of existing products. The Industrial Fund's performance in FY 1989 was a testament to the hard work and dedication of its employees.

The Army's Industrial Fund continues to stress a goal of increasing productivity. In the past year, approximately $90.0 million in productivity improvements were reflected. This has been achieved in terms of lower costs per unit of output. The Asset Capitalization Program (ACP) continues to be an effective means of achieving productivity gains through the acquisition of new and more efficient equipment.

U.S. Army Armament, Munitions and Chemical Command

Activity Group Functions: The Armament, Munitions and Chemical Command (AMCCOM) industrial fund activities provide designated support to the command's material development, procurement, readiness, and management mission. Assigned functions include logistics (material readiness) management including follow on procurement, production, maintenance, engineering and integrated logistics support management; in addition, engineering in support of production, industrial management, value engineering, configuration management, international logistics, tools and equipment engineering, product assurance, transportation and traffic management for assigned systems/material. AMCCOM also executes the mission of the Single Manager for Conventional Ammunition (SMCA) for the Department of Defense, and directs and controls assigned installations and activities.

Activity Group Composition:

Activities	Location
Pine Bluff Arsenal	Pine Bluff, Arkansas
Rock Island Arsenal	Rock Island, Illinois
Watervliet Arsenal	Watervliet, New York
Crane Army Ammunition Activity	Crane, Indiana
McAlester Army Ammunition Plant	McAlester, Oklahoma

Budget Highlights: In FY 1988 this command projects an increase in both revenue and cost over amounts estimated in the initial FY 1988/FY 1989 Presidents Budget. This increase results from additional direct materials included in items manufactured, and the delivery of customer furnished equipment. The increase in revenue and related costs will result in completion of multi-year carryover orders, timely delivery of items to customers, and a reduction in funded carryover. Both FY 1988 and FY 1989 customer order are expected to decline due to decreases in customer appropriations. FY 1989 revenue and cost are projected to decline due to the decrease in customer orders.

The Army Armament, Munitions and Chemical Command has an aggressive program to increase productivity in an atmosphere of a declining workforce and constrained funding. This Command recognizes that increased automation and modernization has the greatest potential for achieving additional efficiencies, and that the Asset Capitalization Program (ACP) has the greatest potential for realizing a high rate of productivity return. The Army Armament, Munitions and Chemical Command has developed a program of ACP purchases that will better insure that productivity increases will continue to be realized in FY 1988/FY 1989.

Other productivity initiatives such as value engineering, methods and standards, incentive awards, quality circles, management production efficiencies, and contracted services (when economical) have been undertaken by this Command to enable quality products and services to be provided, and to lower costs ultimately charged to the Department's customers.

Net Operating Results	23.8	15.1	-8.7

Decreased revenue and cost amounts and the related impact on Net Operating Results were caused by delays in the delivery of components and a related shift of direct labor to indirect labor at some of the installations.

The variance in refunds and passthroughs was due to repricing FERS requirements.

Activity Group Functions: The depot facilities activity group performs depot maintenance and depot supply operation. Depot maintenance includes the over-haul, rebuild, conversion, renovation, modification, repair, inspect and test, manufacture, fabrication, and reclamation of materiel, as well as maintenance support services. Depot supply operations include the receipt, storage, issue and shipment of stocks, and stock control.

Activity Group Composition:

Activities	Location

Anniston Army Depot	Anniston, Alabama
Corpus Christi Army Depot	Corpus Christi, Texas
Letterkenny Army Depot	Chambersburg, Pennsylvania
Lexington Blue Grass Army Depot	Lexington, Kentucky

Depot Activities:

Fort Wingate Depot Activity	Gallup, New Mexico
Pueblo Depot Activity	Pueblo, Colorado
Savanna Depot Activity	Savanna, Illinois
Umatilla Depot Activity	Hermiston, Oregon
Navajo Depot Activity	Bellemont, Arizona

Budget Highlights: Maintenance orders increase $50.0 million in FY 1988 and decrease $30.8 million in FY 1989 with commensurate changes in workyears and revenue and costs; supply orders increase $64.7 in FY 1988 and decrease $93.1 in FY 1989. Due to general Congressional budgetary constraints the depot supply operation is inadequately resourced. Because of the Congressional constraints, customers cannot purchase the level of service desired. Productivity efficiencies are provided in FY 1988 and FY 1989 through reduction of work measurement standards. Individual prices are based on these standards to ensure that estimated productivity savings are passed on to customers.

Summary of Depot and Supply & Other Operations: Depot System Command is composed of two independent but related operations with separate customer rates. A brief description and summary of these operations is contained below.

- Depot Operations: Includes inspection, test, repair, modification, overhaul renovation of ammunition, reclamation and resuild of parts, assemblies, subassemblies, components, and basic or end items, the emergency manufacture of parts when otherwise not attainable, and provision of technical assistance to other activities and intermediate maintenance organizations. Estimated revenues and costs are shown below:

Activity Group Composition:

Activities	Location

Budget Highlights: The Army Missile Command (MICOM) was scheduled to transition from Army Industrial Fund operation to an appropriated fund operation in FY 1989. The transition has been delayed to FY 1990 to accommodate implementation of system changes. Operating procedures however, will approximate those of appropriated fund procedures in FY 1989. As a result, new customer orders decline both in FY 1988 and FY 1989 to permit reduction of funded carryover amounts. In addition, the appropriation mix in FY 1989 reflects directed OSD guidance that overhead be funded from the O&M Army Appropriation in FY 1989 and all remaining work be accomplished on a cost reimbursable basis. MICOM continues to take advantage of ongoing productivity initiatives, especially automation, to accomplish the increasing workload with decreasing resources. MICOM is excluded from participation in the Asset Capitalization Program in FY 1989.

Actual FY 1987 revenues and costs exceeded FY 1987 projections. This was due primarily to an understatement of workload projections and the assumption of a more favorable cost environment than actually materialized. The latter factor also contributed to a Net Operating Results below projection.

The variance in refunds and passthroughs was due to repricing of the FERS requirement.

The contra surcharge recorded in FY 1987 resulted from a prior year adjustment.

During FY 1989 the Army Missile Command will accomplish accounting and reporting requirements as an industrial fund but will bill customers for actual costs rather than bill on a stabilized rate basis. Customer orders were reduced $95.8 million, to defer to FY 1990 funding for customer orders for that portion of work which will not be completed in FY 1989.

Since the submission of the original FY 1988/1989 Army budget, a decision has been made to postpone the conversion of the Army's Missile Command (MCOM) until FY 1990. Accordingly, MCOM civilian end strength (8,330) and workyears (8,407) are displayed in both the Army's Industrial Fund budget submission and the customer appropriation's budget submissions. The dollars for civilian pay are displayed, as is customary, in the Industrial Fund budget and in the customer appropriation budgets as funding to be reimbursed to the industrial fund account.

Activity Group Functions: The Military Traffic Management Command (MTMC) is a DOD Transportation Operating Agency, organized as an Army major command and jointly staffed by all Services. MTMC is the DOD single manager for traffic management.

Activity Group Composition:

Activities	Location
MTMC Eastern Area	Bayonne, New Jersey
MTMC Western Area	Oakland, California
MTMC Transportation Terminal Command, Europe	Rotterdam, Netherlands
MTMC Transportation Engineering Agency	Fort Eustis, Virginia
MTMC Field Operating Agency	Falls Church, Virginia

Budget Highlights: The Military Traffic Management Command will face reduced workload requirements in FY 1989. As a result, both revenues and costs are expected to decline more than $20 million over FY 1988 levels. To meet the challenge of a more financially austere environment, the Military Traffic Management Command will continue its on-going efforts to increase productivity and reduce costs to its customers. Productivity improvements are anticipated in the areas of overseas expansion and ocean terminal operations. Accomplishment of these improvements will be aided by the use of more efficient equipment and improved facilities purchased through the Asset Capitalization Program.

The extension of industrial fund operations to the Military Traffic Management Command's European ports was successfully completed at the start of FY 1988. As a result, preparation will start in FY 1989 to extend industrial fund operations to the Military Traffic Management Command's Far East port operations in FY 1990. Like its European counterpart, this conversion will enhance the capability of the Military Traffic Management Command to more effectively relate costs to the services provided to various components of the Department of Defense.

FY 1989 billing rates have been established at levels equal to costs. No Asset Capitalization Program surcharge is programmed for FY 1989.

Actual FY 1987 revenues and costs exceeded FY 1987 projections due, primarily, to the receipt and processing of substantial amounts of unprogrammed cargo workload and an assumption of a more favorable cost environment than actually materialized. This latter factor when combined with the scheduled cash refund of $55.3 million resulted in an increased net operating loss.

Productivity initiatives are expected to decrease costs by $6.2 million. Replacement of aging capital assets under the ACP program are anticipated to reduce operating costs by $.5 million. Extension of the AIF to Europe is expected to continue to result in management improvements which will reduce operating costs. Finally, continued competition in the shipping and stevedoring industries is expected to reduce contract stevedore costs by $2.6 million.

Customer workload, primarily in the area of ocean terminal operations, is anticipated to decline in FY 1989 with a resulting decrease in customer orders, revenue, and costs. Miscellaneous changes are in labor, consultants, other contracts, travel and the commodity/facility mix.

The ACP surcharge has been reduced to zero resulting in a decrease of $.3 million to customer orders, revenues, and cost/surcharge. Billing rates have been established to recover costs and adjusted to preclude the operating loss projected for FY 1988.

Narrative Justification: Present Astors System is approaching the end of its useful life. Continued use of the Astors will result in increasingly poor reliability, maintainability, and service. Specific areas of concern include the ability to obtain replacement parts for an obsolete computer, programming time on an obsolete language to incorporate even minor changes, piece-at-a time replacement of relay circuitry with solid state, and increasing down time due to reliability. Installation of the ASRS Plus System will provide: 1) Increase storage capacity to meet CCAD directorate of maintenance needs; 2) Improve response time to requests for material by utilizing state-of-the-art storage and retrieval systems with an automated guided vehicle delivery system; 3) Additional available production space through storage of 80% of items currently stored in production areas in the ASRS Plus; 4) Total control of material accountability, material information, and report generation. This ASRS Plus supports all rotary wing aircraft overhauled at CCAD.

Narrative Justification: The present Automated Storage and Retrieval System (ASRS) has been experiencing an increase in downtime and maintenance costs due to the design and age of its control system. The control system is the interface between the ASRS computer and the electro-mechanical storage recovery vehicles which physically place (and retrieve) pallets of material as designated by the ASRS computer control system. This upgrade will replace the present control system with the current generation of controllers. This will ensure a constant source of repair parts necessary to maintain the integrity of the automated system. The equipment modification required is an integral part of the upgrade project and is being undertaken to enhance the efficiency of the new ASRS equipment. This total upgrade will be compatible and a integral part of the proposed ASRS Plus system for building 350 in the FY90/91 timeframe.

Narrative Justification:
This initiative will maintain the current level of operations and provide encrypted radio voice transmissions in accordance with AR 530-2. It will permit U.S. Government activities to retain control of sensitive functional information and prevent the misinterpretation of government activities by the media and deters release of information to potentially unfriendly governments. The benefits will result from reduced, maintenance costs and reduce downtime for equipment requiring repair, intangible benefits will result from increased efficiency in both support operations and reduced response times from police, fire, and special teams, and provide privacy protection in sensitive function areas.

Narrative Justification: The laser vane removal system will replace the time consuming process of electro discharge machining (EDM) damaged vanes from turbine engine nozzles will a faster, more efficient method of reclamation through laser cutting. Presently, turbine nozzles having in excess of seven damaged vanes are condemned because the EDM processing time prevents the repair from being economically feasible. Thus, special alloyed parts, which are repairable are being scrapped because of economic constraints. The laser can process all 42 vanes on one nozzle in approximately one-half of the time it takes to remove only seven vanes from a nozzle with the EDM process. The project will increase productivity, efficiency, and competitiveness of CCAD by allowing previously condemned parts to be used. Also, a reduction in procurement of costly replacement parts will minimize work stoppage due to part shortages if more turbine engine nozzles are reclaimed with the project. The laser vane removal MM&T project has been designated as a command initiative by DESCOM, and if the project is not funded, the Army will have to continue to scrap expensive turbine engine nozzles.

Narrative Justification:
 The primary goal of the Consolidated Maintenance Project will be to consolidate information systems functions to improve productivity and efficiency. The applications within the consolidated maintenance will be used interactively with terminals and data input devices located where needed. Information handling will be improved and streamlined. Information will be more accurate, more timely, and easily retrievable.

The mission of the consolidated maintenance facility is the rebuild of engines and transmissions which is now being accomplished in diverse locations at TEAD. The combining of these shops and functions within one building increases the requirement and feasibility of a management system to schedule the functions down to the workstation level. This finite scheduling which is now accomplished for similar functions within private industry manufacturing companies will increase the productivity and effectiveness of the facility. The installation of a new system is the key to this project, and without it we will be accomplishing the same basic workload, with the same bottlenecks and problems.

Narrative Justification: This expansion of the CAD/CAM system will eliminate less than optimum utilization of highly trained engineers, technicians, and NC programmers. The current system supports eight graphic/design stations, but there are eight NC programmers, fifteen technicians and twelve engineers trained on the system. Using the CAD/CAM system gives a 3 to 1 productivity increase for design/drafting and 10 to 1 increase for NC tape preparation. This project shows a payback period of 3.5 years and a saving-to-investment ratio of 1.95 years. If not procured, facilities engineering personnel will continue to use manual means of producing design drawings and will continue to be backloaded if current drafting methods are used. If not funded savings shown will not be realized as well as the anticipated increase in productivity.

Narrative Justification:

Presently, the Engineering Branch has no design/drafting/engineering automation capacity. Its information processing activity is restricted to the manual efforts of personnel who are performing repetitious, redundant, meticulous detail work not characteristic of modern engineering facilities.

The computer aided engineering (CAE) system will enable the Engineering Branch to improve productivity without increasing manpower. With this equipment, design cost and turn-around time van both be dramatically reduced. Consequently, schedule and work output commitments will be met or exceeded.

With this system, many of the tedious and time-consuming jobs will be automated, thereby freeing personnel for more serious technical work.

Equipment (ACP)									1		2,300.0
Narrative Justification: The CAE System will eliminate much of the tedious and time-consuming paperwork involved in the design of vans, shelters, and sites. For example, with library files on a disc, it will be unnecessary to redraw each and every part for every facility. In addition, changes within a facility will be very easy to make. Using the new system, electrical and printed circuit board schematics will be routed automatically. The numerical control (NC) programmers, engineers, and draftsmen will all be able to use the same data base thereby eliminating excessive duplication of effort. Finally, finite element analysis capabilities will lessen calculation time and enable improved mechanical designs. A CAE System should significantly speed up throughput within the Production Engineering Division, particularly in the design of communications, electronics facilities, and printed circuit boards. By providing workstations in all areas and a common database which all users could access, duplication of effort would be eliminated and productivity would be increase. Capabilities such as finite elements analysis, and automatic circuit placement and routing would also enable faster creation of better engineering designs.

ELEMENTS OF COST	FY 19PY			FY 19CY			FY 1989
	Quantity	Unit cost	Total Cost	Quantity	Unit cost	Total Cost	Quantity	Unit cost	Total Cost
Equipment (ACP)							9		10,200.0

Narrative Justification:

The SDS was designed in 1966 and is based on automated principles used in that period. The SDS is a very large inter-related system consisting of approximately 2500 programs and 3.6 million lines of source code. The SDS is the basic automation system used to manage the U.S. Army Materiel Command (USAMC)/U.S. Army Depot System Command (DESCOM) CONUS and OCONUS depots.

Key deficiencies associated with the system are: input is extremely labor intensive; voluminous hardcopy reports are pushed on the user; extensive training is required by functional personnel to use the system; and errors are discovered after the fact. Current Automated Data Processing Equipment (ADPE) is inadequate to cost effectively support the mission and is characterized by these deficiencies: the central processing units (CPUs) are not sized to be able to run maintenance shop floor system (MSFS) and SDS or Area Oriented Depot Modernization (AOD Mod) and SDS on a single CPU; front end communication processors are an obsolete single vendor product that are out of production; prevents Defense Data Network (DDN) connectivity, and not capable of accepting additional terminal users. Executive software used to operate SDS is no longer enhanced by the vendor. New customers cannot be added unless the system is modernized.

Equipment (ACP)								4		2,700.0
Narrative Justification: The aged disk system will continue to erode and degrade user service. Additional missions and expanded workloads cannot be accommodated. Operating economies cannot be realized. Most existing disks are no longer in vendor production. Repair/replacement parts are not available. Needed repair parts are cannibalized from salvaged units. Enhancement to upgrade the existing units is not possible. Information management will not be able to provide effective service and will lose creditability.

ELEMENTS OF COST			Quantity	Unit cost	Total Cost	Quantity	Unit cost	Total Cost	Quantity	Unit cost	Total Cost
Equipment (ACE)									1		1,900.0
Narrative Justification: Acquisition of an automated advance image system and configuration environment is required for mission support and will become an integral and essential component of SAADs depot-wide workplace automation system. It will support all SAAD organizational elements, including tenant activities and satellite depots (SHAD, SIAD) serviced by the Directorate Western Region Personnel, employing advanced imaging technology for conversion of paper documents into electronic images, will reduce administrative lead time, improve productivity, effectiveness, and control of SAAD operation, through elimination of hand processing of hard copy documents. If the requirement is not satisfied, enormous cost of time and money will continue to be spent managing SAADs paper process. Without a contemporary solution to control the proliferation and reduce the avalanche of paper, the situation can only get worse. Office automation cannot be fully realized until the gap has been filled between automated distributive processing and document image processing system. The evidence is conclusive. Traditional methods of managing paper documents is not a cost effective way to do modern business. Storage and retrieval of paper and film material is slow, cumbersome, labor intensive, and error-prone. Frequently used hard copy documents become misplaced, soiled, and deteriorated.

Database Computer					1	1,200.0	1,200.0
Narrative Justification: The Database computer is required to meet system requirements that cannot be met by the existing WWMCCS computer system. MTMC currently has a myriad of systems that independently perform the various automation/data processing requirements. The database machine will allow MTMC to integrate the various systems thereby enhancing the overall ability to meet current and long term objectives. MTMC's mission as DOD traffic manager and ocean terminal operator rely heavily on the various automated systems. As increasing pressure to automate and manage resources more effectively continues, the Database computer will aid in meeting MTMC's near-term requirements and long term objectives.

Other Equipment Purchases Costing Under $1M Each					32	Various	900.0	24	2,100.0
Narrative Justification: MTMC's Other Equipment Purchases are comprised of two major types of equipment, ADP related items and material handling equipment. The objective of the ACP purchases in this area is to replace aging equipment and modernize ADP capabilities in order to insure mission accomplishment and enhance productivity wherever possible. The major portion of MTMC's equipment purchases are for ADP equipment. This ADP equipment is needed to upgrade current equipment, allow for expansion of capabilities to effectively meet future management requirements, and replace malfunctioning and or obsolete items such as decollators and computer printers. In order to effectively perform its ocean terminal missions, MTMC must replace material handling and related equipment that has reached the end of its useful life, is obsolete, or outdated. Examples of items scheduled for procurement include forklifts and loading ramps.

Minor Construction Projects						12	Various	1,100.0	10	Various	700.0
Narrative Justification: The objective of MTMC's Minor Construction Program is to improve aging port structures and construction of new facilities that fail within the minor construction limitation. Since most of MTMC's port facilities are at least 30-40 years old, the ability of those facilities to meet current operational requirements cannot be met without completion of these projects. In order to meet new or expanded missions, MTMC must construct new facilities or substantially improve those already existing. In addition to purely operational requirements, some projects are necessary in order to comply with various environmental regulations or insure the safety of MTMC's workforce.
